Kennedy Is Hopeful on Berlin Situation

Diplomacy His Means For Goal

Would Talk With Other West Chiefs

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy declared today the United States will use "every diplomatic means" to try to find a peaceful solution of the Berlin dispute with the Soviet Union.

And at another point in his news conference he said tersely: "We're hopeful" of a peaceful solution to the problem.

Kennedy said he thought a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev would not be useful unless the groundwork were carefully laid beforehand. But he said a summit session of Western government chiefs should be held if necessary in "coordinating out policy."

Restrains Himself

Kennedy replied with evidently deliberate restraint to questions about speeches made by Khrushchev this week. The Soviet premier has lashed at the United States and its allies because of their announced determination not to yield their war-won rights to stay in West Berlin.

Khrushchev accused the Allies of aggressive intent toward Russia and in a rocket-rattling Moscow statement Wednesday night he threatened to develope a nuclear super bomb more powerful than anything in existence.

Kennedy said there was no new policy position in Khrushchev's latest statement — no new proposals although Khrushchev "did speak of negotiations."

On this point Kennedy said "it is the strong conviction of the United States government that every diplomatic means must be employed" to see if a peaceful solution can be achieved.

Must Be Precise

The Western powers, the President added, must see whether they can get a "more precise definition" of ideas which Khrushchev has expressed about Berlin.

Kennedy declined to appraise the results of allied harmony talks conducted in Paris during the past week by Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Rusk is scheduled to return home tonight after meeting with British, French, Italian, West German and other Western policymakers. Kennedy said he could answer the question more precisely after talking with Rusk.

Questioned about the flight of East German refugees and whether this presented a problem of an explosion in Germany, Kennedy said the flow of people from East to West is an illuminating example of what people think about

Cole Is Appointed, Salapatis to Fight

Charles J. Cole, 39, of 72 Summer Street, who has served provisionally some two and a half years as public works superintendent, was named to the post by the Board of Public Works Wednesday night as the result of a recently announced civil service rating.

The appointment is to be contested by John C. Salapatis, of 25 Harding Avenue, an assistant in the city engineer's office, who also scored a civil service rating for appointment to the post.

Cole scored 88 in an open competitive examination, and Salapatis, who was permitted to take a promotional examination scored 91.1. The salary ranges is from $6,700 to $7,000.

The board, it was noted, if it saw fit, could reject appointment from either list, because they lacked three names, but civil service regulations apparently leave this point optional, and especially in instances where an employe has been serving provisionally in a post.

He Has Attorneys

Salapatis today said that any comment must come from his counsel, who, he indicated would be plural, "attorneys." He indicated that part of the counsel would have organizational connection.

Cole, a former 13th Ward alderman, is a Kingston native. He attended Immaculate Conception School, Kingston High School, and Butler University. He had served on the Municipal Civil Service Commission several years ago. He has had service as a regular and reservist in the U. S. Navy, and for a time was self employed as a building contractor. He had also been employed by the Turner-Campbell Construction Co., at IBM. Named public works superintendent in May, 1958, he succeeded Ernest Steuding, who resigned.

On Probationary Basis

The appointment becomes effective Aug. 14 and is on a 90-day probationary basis. The board voted unanimously for the appointment, and agreed with

Maximum Work Is Put Into Space Race: President

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the United States is putting maximum effort into space developments in an effort to catch up with the Soviet Union which is "many months ahead of us."

Kennedy said in response to a reporter's question at his news conference that he is satisfied the Russians have put two men into orbit. The reporter had said there is skepticism on the part of some scientists.

The President indicated he does not share this skepticism.

Another reporter asked if Ken-

Historic Paper Arrives For Bank's Display Here

A priceless American document, moved today from Albany to Kingston under police guard will be displayed at Kingston Savings Bank, 273 Wall Street for two weeks starting Friday.

It is the original draft by Abraham Lincoln of the Emancipation Proclamation, written in his own hand.

Now owned by the State of New York, the irreplaceable historic treasure was loaned for a Civil War exhibit at the bank under the auspices of the New York Civil War Centennial Commission. Harry Rigby Jr., bank trustee, and a member of the advisory council of the centennial Commission, arranged for the display.

Maximum security measures were taken for its journey by automobile. Under watchful eyes of Albany city police, it was removed from its fireproof vault deep in the lower recesses of the State Education Building. During its entire trip it was carried in the hands of one person—Mason Tolman, associate librarian, who was accompanied by Crawford E. L. Donahugh, rare books librarian.

New York State Police assumed responsibility for the protection of the Lincoln paper, during its run south on the State Thruway.

Kingston police escorted Tolman's vehicle into the city and guarded the Emancipation Proclamation until it arrived this morning at Kingston Savings Bank.

The document will be kept under close surveillance until it is returned to Albany two weeks hence.

The last time it left the State Education Building was in August, 1949 when it was temporarily installed on the Freedom Train for exhibition throughout the state.

"Rarely is this document al-

Israeli Attorney Declares Eichman Lustful to the End

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner ended the summation of his case against Adolf Eichmann today with a plea for a "just and truthful" verdict that the former Gestapo officer "acted willingly, lustfully and zestfully to the very end."

"Adolf Eichmann acted for the perpetration of these crimes with which he is charged in the most extreme and merciless way conceivable," Hausner told the three judges who will decide whether Eichmann bears major responsibility for the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Hausner did not demand the death penalty—the maximum provided in Israeli law under which Eichmann is charged — because the Anglo-Saxon procedure operative in Israel's courts does not permit such a demand until the defendant is convicted.

Monday, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, Robert Servatius, will sum up his defense. He is expected to take only one day.

The court will then recess for the balance of the summer. It is expected to return its verdict in October.

Earlier today, Hausner had continued his review of the evidence against Eichmann and linked it with specific counts in the massive indictment.

"We have the minutes of the Wannsee Conference which developed the plan for the physical destruction of the Jews," Hausner declared.

"We see from these minutes that Eichmann was present at the meeting and that Reinhard Heydrich's authority for the final solution of the Jewish problem was accepted there."

The prosecutor paused for a moment, pointed to Eichmann seated in the glass-enclosed prisoner's dock, and said: "We also see from the evidence that Heydrich chose Eichmann as his No. 1 representative in carring out the Wannsee decisions."

Eichmann sat with his hands folded in his lap, rarely taking his eyes from the prosecutor. Occasionally he wrote on a large pad before him.

Death Is Asked on Hijacking

Senate Writes Up Bill About Crime

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today wrote a provision for the death penalty into a bill making airplane hijacking a federal crime.

An amendment adopted by voice vote would fix a minimum penalty of 20 years in prison and authorize life imprisonment or death.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., author of the amendment, said he felt a mandatory death penalty as some senators had proposed, would be too drastic.

The bill, which also would provide heavy penalties for other crimes in the skies, was brought up after the hijacking of a Pan American World Ariways jetliner over Mexico Wednesday. The plane was forced to travel to Cuba, but Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government promptly ordered release of the plane, its passengers and crew.

President Kennedy announced at his news conference today that border patrolmen will be assigned to a number of planes to guard against new hijacking incidents.

Despite return of the plane, senators demanded stern action against the Castro regime following a series of incidents.

Asks Economic Blockade

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the assistant minority leader, said the time has come for an economic blockade of Cuba.

Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., said that "certainly as a great, powerful nation, we do not need to tolerate the insults and provocations that are presented to us by Fidel Castro."

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., Senate majority leader, appealed to his colleagues to pass the hijacking bill and leave the question of the general state of relation swith Cuba in the hands of the President "where it belongs at this time."

What About Man?

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that although the plane was returned, there still remains the question of whether Cuba will turn over the hijacker to the United States for prosecution.

"I am glad they released the jet and that the passengers and crew are safe," Dirksen said. "But that doesn't end the matter. We have an extradition treaty with Cuba and if they don't turn the hijackers over to us, it will

Military Planning Genius Dies of Seizure at 65

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Bedell Smith, soldier, diplomat, jut-jawed genius of military planning, died Wednesday night of a heart attack. He was 65.

Death came to the general as an ambulance rushed him to Walter Reed Army Hospital. He had suffered the attack at his home here.

Smith served the government in various posts for 43 years. It honored him as few men in history have been honored — with four distinguished Service medals.

Started as Guardsman

As a soldier, Smith rose from a private in the Indiana National Guard to coordinator of the entire planning of the invasion of North Africa and Normandy in World War II. He was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief of staff through most of the war, the team becoming known as "Ike and Beetle."

Later, when Eisenhower became President in 1953, the team was revived as Smith became undersecretary of state, second in command and sometime stand-in for Secretary John Foster Dulles.

No Political Leaning

Between the war and his appointment to be undersecretary, Smith, who described himself as without political leanings or inclinations, served under President Harry S. Truman as ambassador to Moscow. Later, Truman named Smith director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

After leaving government service Smith became vice chairman of American Machine and Foundry Co. and president of AMF Atomics, Inc.

HERBERT HOOVER

Former President 87 Today, Says Yanks Not Soft

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover celebrates his 87th birthday today, firm in the conviction that Americans "are ready for any emergency on earth."

Hoover, who has lived longer than any other American president except John Adams (who died at the age of 90), scoffs at the idea that Americans are becoming soft.

The people, he said, are "as deeply patriotic as they've ever been."

He's Optimistic

At a news conference in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Wednesday Hoover discussed a wide variety of topics ranging from the Berlin crisis to baseball. His face ruddy and unlined he appeared at ease and took an optimistic view of everything he discussed.

Besides writing two books last year, the former Republican president attended 26 public occasions, made 14 speeches—none ghost written, replied to 34,805 letters, received 11 awards and traveled to Florida and California.

Credit's Work

This was in addition to helping administer the Boys Clubs of America and serving on 12 boards of trustees or directors of educational and scientific institutions.

How does he keep up the pace?

"The only way to lead a satisfactory life when you get old is not to retire but to work."

'Man of Peace' Says He Has Super-Bomb

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev brandished the threat of a super-super-bomb five times more powerful than the average American hydrogen bomb Wednesday night but claimed once more he is a man of peace.

"We do not want war . . . only lunatics think of a war," the Soviet leader declared.

Khrushchev sounded his bomb warning in an impromptu speech at an otherwise gay reception for the Soviet Union's newest pinup boy—spaceman Gherman Titov.

"Scientists have suggested to the Soviet government that they can create a bomb equal to 100 million tons of TNT—only one bomb," Khrushchev declared.

Watching Prospects

Unless the prospects for peace improve, the premier continued, he will give the scientists the green light to build the bomb. He added that the Soviet Union could provide a rocket that would send such a big bomb aloft.

Khrushchev disclosed that he had given this warning to President Kennedy's chief disarmament negotiator, John J. McCloy, and to Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani in recent conferences.

Western scientists said a bomb the size Khrushchev described would be easy enough to build but the military effect would not be worth the effort since existing hydrogen bombs are powerful enough to wipe out most cities at one strike)

Alternately Gay, Grim

Khrushchev, who has boasted that his secret weapon is "my tongue," was alternately gay and grim at the gala Kremlin reception for the Soviet cosmonaut who circled the globe 17 times.

Poking fun at American spacemen, he commented, "nobody but the bolsheviks can reach the cosmos." With a wide grin, he added, "the Americans don't launch sputniks. They jump out and fall in the ocean. We are glad the American flier didn't drown."

The Soviet leader once more declared his determination to sign

Three Untrained Caseworkers Are Hired in Welfare

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Three new caseworkers, none of them trained as social workers, were hired today to help carry out Newburgh's stringent new welfare program.

This was the first implementation of City Manager Joseph Mitchell's announced decision to hire case workers who are not trained social workers and not necessarily college graduates.

Mitchell held that social workers believe society owes a duty to the individual without regard whether the individual owes a duty to society.

34 British Schoolboys Die in Norway Air Crash

By GUNNAR J. BORREVIK

STAVANGER, Norway (AP) — Thirty-four British schoolboys en route to a holiday in Norway died Wednesday night in a chartered British airliner that crashed and burned on a Norwegian mountainside during a fierce coastal storm.

The other Britons aboard the twin-engine Vickers Viking—Two schoolmasters, two pilots and a stewardess—died with them.

A helicopter pilot sighted the wreckage of the plane at dawn 15 miles from Stavanger, on a mountain in the rugged Ryflyke Fiord area of Norway's southwest coast.

The plane hit about 30 feet below the top of the 1, 870-foot mountain and apparently exploded on impact. One wing, virtually intact, was hurled 300 yards. The broken fuselage hung from the peak. Most of the bodies were scattered nearby, many of them badly mutilated.

The schoolboys, 13 to 16 years old, were all pupils at Lanfranc School in Croydon, a commuter town 12 miles south of London. Their frantic parents besieged London Airport Wednesday night, desperate for word of their children's fate. Their telephone numbers were taken and they were sent home.

Just after dawn a team of telephone operators began the calls that ended their vigil. Policemen also knocked at the doors of the homes, mostly of middle-class families, to tell what had happened.

The excited boys had crowded chattering aboard the Viking, owned by Cunard-Eagle Airlines Wednesday afternoon. Most had saved their pocket money for the week's holiday.

They were to stay in a youth hostel in Stavanger and then in a mountain chalet, hiking in the mountains, fishing for trout, playing badminton and swimming.

It was only a 2½-hour flight to Sola Airport, outside Stavanger, but from off the Norwegian coast the pilot, Capt. Philip Watts, 40, radioed he was fighting gale force winds and slashing rain. It was the last message the Viking sent.

East German Communists Demanding Total Travel Ban

BERLIN (AP) — Communist groups in East Germany today demanded a total ban on East Germans traveling to West Berlin.

The proposal to close the escape hatch to the West came from new factory committees formed to help dam the tide of fleeing refugees.

The Communist regime already has limited permits for official or private travel, reinforced police guards to intercept the refugees, and taken measures to intimidate the estimated 80,000 East Germans who commute to work in West Berlin daily.

But about 2,000 refugees a day are slipping through the Red net to West Berlin.

The official East German news agency ADN announced formation of the factory committees "to combat the trading in humanity," the way the Communists describe the exodus.

A private West Berlin intelligence agency reported the first act of these committees was to demand a total ban on travel to West Berlin or West Germany "until the situation is normal again." Such "spontaneous demands" are often used by the Communists to jusify official action.

Branded as Criminals

The East German press, radio and television kept up an intensive campaign branding the refugees as criminals and enemies of socialism.

The factory committees have the role of watching their fellow workers and stepping in with persuasion when they suspect an in-

News Talk Draws 433 Reporters

Caution Is Given OnBlamingCastro

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy announced today that border patrolmen will be assigned to a number of airplanes to guard against new hijacking incidents.

As a further precaution, Kennedy said, doors to the pilot's cabin will be locked and the key held inside.

Kennedy also told a news conference that he hopes other governments will exercise all the means at their power to control what he called these "exercises in futility."

The President cautioned against premature howls of protest before it can be ascertained exactly who has hijacked an airplane and for what purpose.

His cautionary words were directed at members of Congress who have attacked Fidel Castro of Cuba as the instigator of two recent plane piracies when, as it developed, the aircraft were seized by men with no known connection with Cuba.

433 Newsmen There

At his 14th news conference, attended by a record 433 newsmen, Kennedy also said:

1. He is sending Arthur H. Dean back to Geneva on Aug. 24 for what may well be a final attempt to reach agreement with Russia on a nuclear test ban. Kennedy said a report from a panel of scientists had convinced him that with present techniques it would be impossible to determined positively whether Russia is secretly testing atomic weapons.

2. He finds no new proposals in Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's speech this week and recent statements on the German problem. He repeated this country's determination to employ every diplomatic means available in seeking a peaceful solution of the cold war clash over Berlin.

Asked about the rash of plane hiiackings, Kennedy said he hopes successful procedures can be worked out to prevent new incidents.

All Had Mental Treatment

He went on to note that Wednesday's Pan American jet hijacking was the work of a Frenchman who said he had been treated earlier this year for mental aberrations.

The Continental Airlines jet piracy last week over Texas was perpetrated by a father and son, one of whom also has been treated for mental weakness, he said.

These episodes suggest that a "lunatic fringe" has taken to hijacking as a means of gaining publicity, Kennedy said.

An Eastern Air Lines Electra, commandeered by an unidentified hijacker last month has been held in Havana by the Castro government.

Even with this in mind, Kennedy said he felt it important for Americans "to act with the prudence worthy of a great power."

The inter-American conference now in progress in Uruguay is of vital significance to development of needy countries of the Western Hemisphere, Kennedy said, and this country should avoid rocking the boat by getting "so over excited" about aircraft hijackings

Beacon Council For Referendum On Police Wages

A referendum on a petition from the Beacon Police Department seeking a career-pay plan has been approved by members of the City Council of Beacon.

Under the proposed pay scale the police chief would receive a minimum salary of $8,500 annually with an increase to $9,250 after the first year.

Patrolmen would receive a starting salary of $4,800, increases of $300 at the end of each year for three years, and $200 at the end of the fifth, 10th and 15th years. Maximum pay for patrolmen would be $6,400.

Lieutenants would receive $6,000, with pay increases of $300 at the end of the first and second years. The detective lieutenant would receive $7,300 with the same two $200 increases. Sergeants would start at $6,400 and receive two annual pay increases of $200.

Albany Is Quiet Place in Summer

By MICHAEL KATIN G

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — This week's big political production never came off and Gov. Rockefeller hasn't officially seen his new front yard.

The story began with receipt of word from the Executive Chamber that the governor, spending a few days in Albany, would inspect the Capitol's front lawn. Some flowers and additional trees have been planted in what is known officially as "Capitol Park."

Officials of the Office of General Services — the state's housekeeping unit —assembled outside the governor's sanctum, waiting to escort the chief to the lawn. Workmen tensed in anticipation. Reporters were alerted. Photographers were on hand.

But a huddle between the governor and other state executives went on too long — an hour too long. The word was issued: the front lawn will not be inspected today.

"Gen. Schuyler couldn't get rid of all the crabgrass," one wag commented. The general is Cortland V.R. Schuyler, chief of the Office of General Services.

The abortive lawn inspection is an example of the type of activity that can be indulged in during the summer months at the Capitol, when the Legislature is adjourned and many state employes, politicians and other folk are on vacation.

Lunches are slow and leisurely for those who remain. Conversations are trivial. This is in sharp contrast to the seat-stained primary battle that is under way in New York City.

As the New York City candidates pound the steaming sidewalks, push through throngs of bathers at the beaches, and gorge uncomfortably on pizza pies and blintzes, those left at the Capitol idly discuss the fate of the candidates.

Public Hearing

The quiet almost was interrupted this week by a public hearing.

Participants in these affairs sometime storm the Capitol as though it were the Bastille. The axes to be ground would fell half the Forest Preserve.

But those who came to this week's hearing — held by the Joint Legislative Committee on Intoxicating Liquors — fell under the summer doldrums spell. Not a voice was raised, not a finger was pointed in scorn. The speakers and the committee members exchanged profuse thanks for each other's courtesy. And no one was intoxicated.

Tourist - watching, however, sometimes quickens the pace. After months of politician pinstripe and lawyer midnight blue, it is unsettling to see people sauntering through the Capitol in shorts and cubist shirts.

And those finely proportioned girls of tender years in the short-shorts, they are upsetting.

Party Line Trouble

What would be the most complicated way in which to tell someone to get off the phone:

Here is how an examiner for the Public Service Commission put it in his official report this week on complaints from subscribers of a telephone company in Slaterville that people were listening in on party lines:

"There is an area where self-abnegation on the part of some subscribers would alleviate poor reception on party lines. An intrusive audience of indeterminate number diminishes the quality of service whenever they abuse the privacy of the calling parties. Curtailment of protracted conversations would also permit greater utilization of existing facilities."

Try that one if you have trouble on a party line.

Blaze at Firehouse Cancels Practice

ORISKANY FALLS, N.Y. (AP) —The volunteer firemen had assembled for a practice session.

Then three teen-agers shouted: "The firehouse is on fire!"

Flames blossomed from under the eaves of the century-old, two-story brick and wood building.

The volunteers on hand manned the pumper. An alarm went out for others.

Damage was estimated at $2,000.

The cause of the fire Wednesday night was not determined.

Chief John Boryai of this Mohawk Valley community called off the drill. "That was enough practice," he said.

Child's Rescuer Is Cancer Victim, Medal Too Late

WEST SAND LAKE, N.Y. (AP) —William Samjohn, a throat cancer victim, died Wednesday without receiving a Carnegie Hero Medal he was awarded for rescuing a child from drowning.

Samjohn, 58, had said he wanted to "hang on" until the medal he was awarded last week arrived.

Samjohn, who breathed through an incision in his throat, plunged into the surging Wynants Kill near his home last May and rescued Polly Ann Pickett, 2, a neighbor's daughter.

Samjohn, with water rushing within inches of his throat, grabbed the girl a few feet ahead of a 20-foot drop in the Kill near this Rensselaer County community.

The Carnegie Hero Fund Commission acted last week in Pittsburgh after it learned that Samjohn wwas critically ill. The medal and $500 are due sometime this week.

Samjohn, whose weight had dropped to 50 pounds, had difficulty understanding a hero's medal was on its way.

When it was made clear to him, Samjohn said, "I'll try to hang on until it comes."

Crack About Bomb Brings Arrest, Bag Holds Pennies

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — A man carrying a bag containing $20 in pennies was arrested Wednesday as he boarded a commercial plane and charged with perpetrating a bomb hoax.

The Eastern Airlines plane, enroute from Binghamton to Washington, D.C., was delayed 70 minutes.

The stewardess, Miss Marie Livingston of Alexandria, Va., said she asked Kenneth Partlow, 26, of Huntington, W. Va., whether he wanted to put his bag on a rack.

She quoted him as replying: "Yes, it's a bomb."

Miss Livingston notified an airport security guard, who summoned deputy sheriffs.

At arraignment on the federal charge before U.S. Commissioner Charlotte Hull, Partlow denied saying the bag held a bomb. "I said it's as heavy as a bomb," Partlow claimed.

He was released in his own custody, pending a hearing Sept. 8.

Partlow said he was married, the father of three and was employed by the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. in Huntington as a quality-control inspector. He had been on assignment at the Norwich Pharmacal Co. plant in Norwich, N.Y.

He explained that his hobby was collecting pennies and that he had obtained $20 worth from a Norwich bank.

Mohawk Power Co. Allowed to Raise Rates 2 Per Cent

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission told the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. today it would permit the company to raise its electricity rates by $3.7 million, or about 2 per cent.

The company, which serves 1.1 million customers in a wide area of Upstate New York, had asked for an increase of $11.2 million, or 6 per cent, but the PSC held 5-1 that this would be excessive.

It told the company that, if it applied to the commission for a 2 per cent increase, it would be granted. No time limit was announced.

3rd in 4 Years

When granted, the increase will be the third in four years. The PSC approved an $8.2 million electricity rate increase for Niagara Mohawk in 1957 and a $7.5 million boost in 1959.

The company's request for an $11.2-million raise was opposed at public hearings in Albany and Buffalo last year by various upstate cities, villages and counties, including Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Syracuse and Schenectady.

They argued that the increase should not be granted until a determination could be made of the effect of the Niagara power project on Niagara Mohawk earnings. Much of Niagara's power was sold this year to the utility.

The company contended that the additional revenue was needed to offset increased operating costs and provide an adequate return on invested capital.

The PSC majority held that the $3.7 million increase appeared ample to meet the utility's known and anticipated requirements until the benefits of the Niagara project power could be assessed. It said figures cited by the company did not take into account the Niagara project and therefore were not representative of the true situation.

Commissioner Francis T. Mylott, the lone dissenter on the commission, said the company should be granted a rate increase of about $9.3 million, or 5 per cent, to allow it to earn a fair return on its property.

There is no evidence to support the claim that Niagara project power will benefit the company financially, Mylott said.

Argument Ends In Death, Jail

BAINBRIDGE, N. Y. (AP)—An argument between a pair of 74-year-old men in a shack they shared near here ended in death for one and arrest for another.

William Barraegher was shot through the neck with a bullet from a .22-caliber rifle Wednesday when he approached Guy Herbert Howe, who was drinking soup, a coroner said.

State Police charged Howe with first-degree manslaughter.

Howe waived examination when arraigned before Justice Ray Reed at Mount Upton. Howe was committed to Chenango County Jail, Norwich, pending grand jury action.

Berrypicker, 85, Is Found Dead in Woods

ELBRIDGE, N.Y. (AP)—An 85-year-old man who apparently collapsed while picking berries died in an ambulance enroute to a Syracuse hospital Wednesday.

Thomas Murphy, 85, of Elbridge, missing from home for 12 hours, had been the object of a search by police, several fire departments and Onondaga County civil defense teams.

He was found lying on his back in heavily wooded ravine a half-mile from home by Marcellus firemen. They said Murphy may have suffered from a combination of stroke and exposure.

RED STYLE COLONIALISM

What is it really like to be a "friend" of the Soviet Union?

Everybody knows the answer being given by East German refugees who, in President Kennedy's words, are "voting with their feet." But what of the tens of millions in other satellites without an escape hatch?

They live in some of the world's most crowded cities, yet new housing in Eastern Europe is hardly 40 per cent of that in the Soviet Union, itself troubled by shortages.

It is estimated another 15 years will be needed just to complete rehabilitation of war-damaged buildings and transportation.

Subsistence levels in food and clothing are being met, but faulty distribution yearly wastes thousands of tons of food, and warehouses are jammed with industrial rejects and shoddy, unsalable fabrics and footwear.

The whole satellite area has fewer telephones than our city of Baltimore. Total annual satellite automobile output — much of it exported— doesn't match the Cadillacs we sell in a year.

Hungary, once a rich breadbasket for Europe, has had to become a grain-importing nation.

All these lands should be reasonably prosperous, for they have rich resources and talented, industrious people. Still, they lag far behind the West, and the Soviet Union, in factory and farm output.

The answer is simple. To be a compulsory friend of Russia is to be milked dry, year after year.

The milking began after World War II when Russia carted off nearly $25 billion worth of capital equipment, even unto railroad tracks and telephone cables. It has continued ever since.

At first brashly but now more subtly, the Kremlin has steadily overcharged satellite lands for its exports and underpaid them for its imports. In a four-year span this thinly veiled theft was estimated at $2.4 billion—enforced foreign aid for Moscow's benefit.

Russia controls all satellite strategic resources and through alleged "joint" companies manages whole sectors of their economies. Before the war, when Poland, Czechoslovakia Romania and the rest were free to choose, they traded little with Moscow. Today more than half of Soviet trade is with these countries.

Furthermore, the Russians compel the satellites to bear the brunt of lavish low-interest trade credits to underdeveloped lands, and to aid Red-dominated Asian nations which in turn fatten Soviet coffers. The satellites rehabilitated war-torn North Korea.

Probably no colonial power in history has matched the squeeze the greedy Soviet Union has applied to its unhappy captive neighbors.

ANOTHER MOON STEP

A man now has traveled farther, in a space capsule, than the distance from the earth to the moon. It is this aspect of Gherman Titov's orbital journey that most graphically demonstrates the progress made in space technology since Sputnik I was launched less than four years ago. A manned trip to the moon does not now seem so very far away.

It is hard for Americans to swallow the distasteful probability that the first such trip will be made by a Russian spaceman in a Russian space capsule lofted toward the moon by a Russian rocket. That probability is now heightened by Titov's astonishing feat. The odds are strongly on Russia to beat us to the moon.

The margin of victory is not going to be large in any case, however, and there is still a chance that a breakthrough in our heavy-thrust rocket program will enable us to get a manned capsule to the moon first. The really important thing, however much Soviet precedence may rankle, is that the human race can accomplish such a wonder. If only man can learn to channel his genius toward building rather than destruction, he has it in him to reach the stars.

Scientists are trying to find a way to make men hibernate so they can withstand space travel acceleration. Why limit this luxury to astronauts?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

IT IS THEIR WORLD

The other night, I found myself surrounded by thousands of shouting, yelling, applauding, singing youngsters who were demanding more and more encores by Arthur Fiedler's Boston Pops Orchestra. It was their music, their night, their world. And it was very different.

The most exciting moment was when this magnificent symphony orchestra, somewhat augmented, played "Pops Round-Up." Being an oldster, I thought what was to come was some kind of medley and I was not disappointed. It was a medley of the theme songs of television shows.

The older folks could not identify the strange music which has little of Beethoven or Brahms. And I fear that some of the older folks looked down their noses at all this excitement, because at a Boston Symphony concert, or any other, one behaves according to protocol. The applause is usual and sufficient. There are no encores.

Not so on this occasion. The kids shouted the name of each theme song; they applauded during the playing; they even sang the songs. They had a grand time and any old man or woman who could not cheer along with his grandchildren should admit that he has had it and retire to such memories as senility endures. An 80 year youngster said that her only complaint was that she could not dance!

Each generation speaks its own language whether it is in speech or music and while it may want to hear what the ancestors had to say, it will reinterpret it. So when Tchaikowsky is done to jazz, it is not, as some say, vulgar stealing. It is rather an idea by another generation which cannot dance to a Strauss waltz but can make its own step, slow, meditative, with a little necking on the dance floor.

Older people always know what is right and what is wrong and they hate to see the world go to the devil. But somehow that never happens. There have been Caesars and Alexanders and Genghis Khans and Hitlers and then the human race catches its breath and goes about its business in its own fashion.

These young people who come to hear a symphony program end with "The Stars and Stripes Forever," as Fiedler always does, are not as frightened as their parents are. They expect to take their chances with life and to laugh at those who, having no daring, resort to petty snobbery as a defense.

Of course, these kids will not became millionaires, as Andrew Carnegie or Al Capone did; they may work in a laboratory for $100,000 a year, saving the human race and enjoying that as they revelled in "Tiger Rag" played as though it had been orchestrated by Ravel.

These kids do not complain about income taxes. They will find a thrill in blowing up a bomb or sitting on a space-ship or skin-diving. Theirs is a different world as their ambitions are different from those of their parents.

And so here I sit, under my maples, looking at a house that may be 200 years old or more, if one believes everything he hears, listening to a radio play Haydn. There are no children on this farm this year. One is building his own world far from mine; another has gone to the wars and is in a distant place where he lives in an entirely different civilization; another is at college during the summer studying economics, a very stupid but essential subject.

And so the world moves on and the oldsters shake their heads and wonder what will come of it all. My father wondered about that, I am sure, when I forsook his ideals of life and seized upon my own. And now I am a grandfather and watch a few thousand kids express themselves in their own way about the things they love, Paladin is no worse than Phil the Fiddler. But you have never heard of Phil the Fiddler! He was a character invented by Horatio Alger with the object of convincing young boys that if they worked hard, spoke truthfully, were loyal to their employer, they would, in the end, marry the boss' daughter and inherit the business.

Today, a young fellow does not want to inherit the business. He wants to know mathematics so that he can work on something that will orbit the Earth or something.

Is it bad?

Reservation Is Key to Hypertension Problems

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column, I discussed blood pressure variations and some of the disturbing side effects of effective blood pressure-reducing drugs (anti-tensives). I stated my reservations and fears at the prospect of a steady diet of anti-tensive drugs for the 6 million Americans who are said to be afflicted with hypertension and hence, in danger of a curtailment of their life spans.

Writing in the "Medical Clinics of North America," Dr. Sibley W. Hoobler of the University of Michigan Hospital clearly stated his reservations in these general terms:

Treatment is not required for patients manifesting blood pressure elevations in the physician's office (or clinic) but having no hypertensive complications and normal readings at home.

Treatment is not required for patients who have transient rises not exceeding 200/110 and who are seemingly unaffected by the temporary elevation.

Treatment is not required by women over the age of 40 who have a recent onset of hypertension with values not exceeding 180/100. (This refers to what is incorrectly called "menopausal hypertension" when the patient's complaints are due neither to the "change" nor to the blood pressure elevation.)

Treatment is not required for the elderly with readings of no more than 200/105 provided that they have no evidences of blood vessel complications.

And, to these reservations, I would add that drug treatment, in particular, is not required until the effects of simple weight reduction, rest and sedation have been fully explored.

Finally, there is the matter of the patient's response to long continued use of effective anti-tensives. Are such benefits as may be obtained preferable to the unpleasant side effects that are almost sure to make their appearance, sooner or later?

These, then, are the reservations that require the sober consideration of seasoned physicians whose prime interest is the welfare of the patient-friend who sits across the desk.

They will not greatly please those whose prime interest is the merchandising of anti-tensives, since they will take better than 90 per cent of the 6 million American hypertensives out of the drug market. But they may help to put the problem of hypertension in its proper perspective.

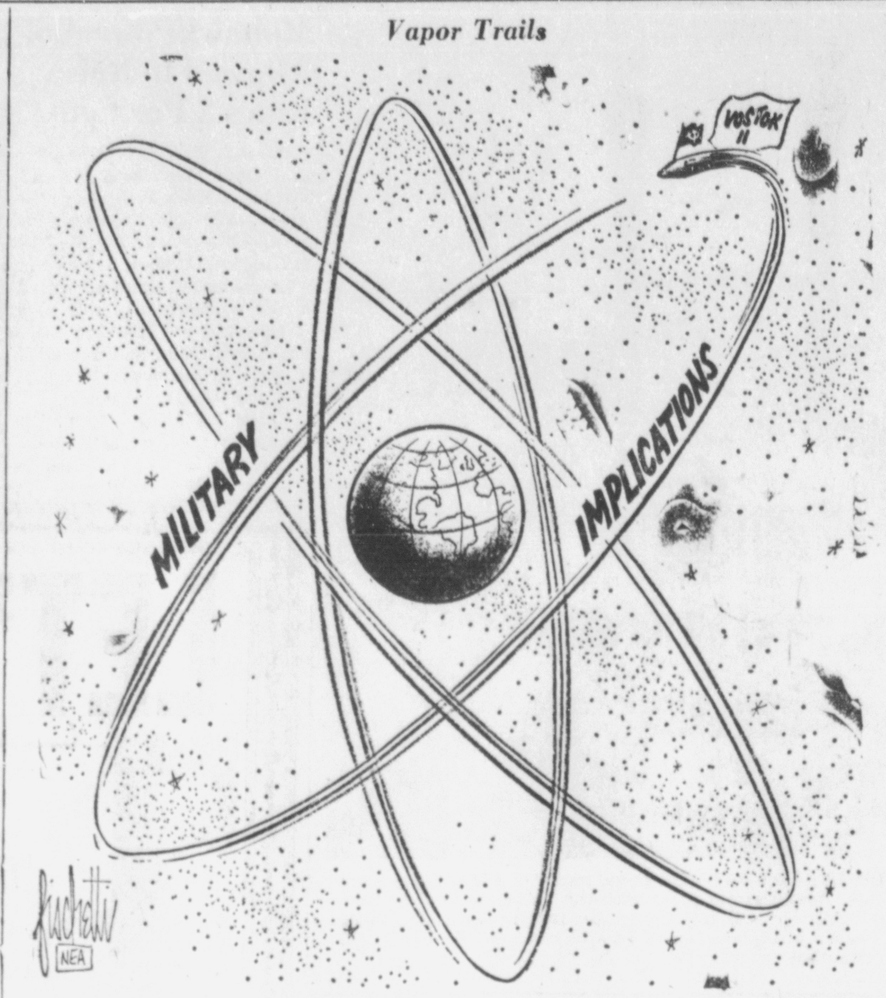
Vapor Trails



Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—"You go into a remote Vietnamese village for the first time," began the CARE man just back from there.

"You sit down at a table in the native cafe and wait. The men from the village who come by look you over covertly. They want to see how you scratch yourself. How you laugh. What you smell like.

"If they are satisfied, one or two of them may come to your table. They start talking to you, through your interpreter. You talk about little things. You keep out of politics, wars, religion.

"Gradually, when you feel it's safe, without appearing to pry into their affairs, you ask them what they need most in their village. Then you try to get it for them—a well, a blackboard, some books, a hand loom, a fishing boat."

This is the way first foreign aid gets started at the jungle roots. This isn't the big stuff—roads, railroads, river valley developments or industrial projects that are taken care of by millions of dollars in government-to-government foreign aid programs. This is for the little "self-help" things that will make daily life more bearable for underprivileged people in an underdeveloped country.

THE MAN EXPLAINING this is Harold Sillcox, 36, an ex-Marine from Norristown, Pa., who served in both the European and Asiatic theaters in World War II.

After the war he went back to Malaya to settle down as a rubber planter. He saw first-hand the start of the 12-year battle to wipe out the Communist guerrillas.

In 1956 Sillcox joined the overseas staff of CARE — Cooperative for American Relief to Everywhere—as a mission chief in Korea. After several years there, he and his competent, attractive wife were assigned to Viet Nam.

The aid they have been able to administer in the last three years has gone primarily to resettled refugees who have fled from the Communists in the north.

ONE OF THE MAIN criticisms of big government aid is that too much of it stays in the cities. It doesn't go out into the country. The little CARE programs try to.

Two hundred thousand school kits, costing only $1 apiece, have been distributed. Each consists of pencils, brushes, a slate, crayone and 14 copybooks. Youngsters copy the maxims in pencil, first. "Use mosquito nets. Don't drink from a spring near a johnny. It is unsafe to smoke in bed." They are really lessons which children teach their parents.

Then the pencilled lines are carefully erased. A second class reuses the books, writing in brush and ink.

A $5 packet of rice and salt and soap helps tide a family over while waiting for its first crop to grow. A $10 set of hand tools—jungle knife, rice sickle, axe, shovel and two hoes—will get the crop in.

A $6 packet of ten meters of red coton cloth for men, black for women, will clothe a family. Incidentally, CARE made parachute drops of several thousand such kits to the Meo tribesmen driven from their Laos mountain homes by the Pathet Lao Communist earlier this year.

A $25 midwife's kit of basins, plastic bottles, sterile cloth, safety pins and such things will take care of 25 new babies. A refill for another $10 will take care of another 25 babies. They keep on arriving in spite of crises.

THESE ARE THE THINGS that touch home. The people who get them have only the vaguest idea of where the United States is or what it's like. But here are Americans—ugly Americans with big noses, if you like—who are their friends.

CARE representatives abroad are instructed to stay out of politics and international developments. Ask Sillcox how long he thinks the Vietnamese can hold out against the Communists since things began to go wrong and get worse in that troubled country. He answers:

"What's gone wrong? It's still there, isn't it? In 1954 and 1955 they were saying that South Viet Nam could hold out only three months. But it's still there.

"Remember, it took Malaya 12 years to clean out its Reds. Viet Nam has been at it for only six years."

Fate of Communism Seen At Stake in East Germany

By DAVID LAWRENCE

IN EUROPE—Nikita Khrushchev's real dilemma doesn't stand out clearly because no single event points it up, but it is real just the same. He is up against a problem in East Germany which will never be solved his way—by trying to make Communists out of the majority of the German people.

All the world fears a nuclear war, because one is, of course, possible. But it isn't probable. This is recognized by the foreign ministers who have been meeting in Paris and by the Communist spokesmen who have been broadcasting their propaganda threats from Moscow. Mr. Khrushchev himself is somewhat dumbfounded by what he now calls the "war psychosis." For he knows the West wouldn't start a nuclear war, and he himself doesn't dare to do so, either. He is well aware that his twenty-year plan and the aspirations of communism to dominate the world cannot be realized on the debris of a devastated humanity.

Wants Treaty

What, then, is the international sparring match about? The Soviet Premier is desperately trying to save East Germany from being absorbed some day by a prosperous and efficient West Germany. Communism is far from a success in East Germany, as evidenced by the steady flow of refugees to West Germany.

Also, Poland is restless. So is Czechoslovakia. So is Hungary. The fate of communism is at stake in East Germany, and Mr. Khrushchev will try in any way he can to get that separate peace treaty signed, even if it finally means letting West Berlin itself alone.

But the test will not come — as has been so often assumed — by a deliberate or major attempt to block the allied routes of access to West Berlin. It will come in gradual stages, and at a slow and exasperating pace, after a peace treaty with East Germany has been signed later this year. Climaxes will arise one after another as East German customs guards or troops delay or block traffic here and there, only to remove the obstructions when a real fuss is made about it by the Allies.

Sees No Fighting

Western troops will continue to be in readiness nearby, but the Soviets will never give them an opportunity to do any fighting. Also, on the Western side the futility of a military operation to stop interferences with Allied traffic will sooner or later become apparent. Instead, other measures primarily in the economic field, may have to be undertaken.

It is significant that the State Department in Washington announced on Aug. 4 that for the time being a total trade embargo on the Communist bloc as a counter-measure to Soviet pressure on Berlin had been shelved. But the exact words of the announcement are worth noting:

"It is only natural that Soviet threats with respect to Berlin should have stimulated considerable speculation concerning countermeasures, including action in the economic field. Now it is possible that if the Soviet government continues its threatening attitude toward the vital interests of the United States and its Allies, we will be obliged to reconsider all aspects of our relations, including economic, with the Soviet Union and the countries of the Soviet Bloc."

Greatest Threat

Those few words have more meaning in the Moscow government than all the talk of more military divisions in NATO or the calling up of reservists. For the economic weapon can be the most powerful of all in forcing the Kremlin to abandon its harassment of Allied routes to West Berlin.

Critics of the economic-warfare idea are saying that the same thing was tried in the 1930s before World War II, and failed due to disagreements among the anti-Hitler allies. But the threat of a conventional war in those days aroused less interested in an economic blockade than does the fear of a nuclear war today. The world hasn't been right up against a nuclear war, and, if such a situation should really materialize, economic blockades will come promptly as a matter of course. At present, such measures are only in the "contingency planning" stage, which is the correct way to deal with this weapon at the moment. The Western foreign ministers discussed the problem at length in Paris this week, but gave only vague hints to the press as to the nature of their studies.

Danger to Kremlin

The potential danger to the Kremlin of an economic blockade is the impact it might produce inside the Communist-bloc countries. There would be little chance of holding East Germany together. The demoralizing effect it might have on Poland and the other Communist-bloc countries cannot be overestimated. The exodus of refugees to the West would be multiplied, factories would close down, unemployment would ensue.

Damage would be done to Allied trade, too, and the so-called "neutral" countries would have a hard time of it because the demand would naturally arise also to cut them off from essential trade with the West if any of them played ball with the Communists. Any blockade is a last-resort measure, but it is possible —and Nikita Khrushchev knows it.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Received an interesting letter from James P. Martin, of 247 West Chestnut Street, former lieutenant of the Kingston Police Department. He enclosed an item from the New York Times of Sunday, July 16, 1961 in which Kingston is written up very favorably as a "spot for Anchorage" by Clarence E. Lovejoy. Samuel Ruchman of Spring Street had brought this item to my attention also, which I mentioned in this column.

Mr. Martin writes in part: "The Anchorage restaurant is run by his son, James C. Martin and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Frank Fiorie. They also have a Marina on their property and people from all over the State of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania moor their boats at this Marina, in Eddyville, N. Y." Some time ago, his son had spoken to me, about seeing the place.

Eddyville and all around this section, as the N. Y. Times writer says, is perfect "protection and flat-water overnight comfort. Rondout Creek has 8 to 21 feet of water, making Kingston just about perfect for the overnight visitor, the boat owner." It would be nice, if those who wish to advertise this section would give those overnight craft owners a small gift, like a ball point pen, with a "Welcome to Kingston, or Ulster County . . .," on it. I always considered Eddyville a picturesque spot. I see the county as a rule cuts all the brush next to the Rondout Creek, if Kingston would also do it, the Rondout Creek with all its boating would be visible to the visitors by car and out-of-town craft owners could see Kingston, instead of a wilderness.

Mr. DeCicco of Tommy's Tavern, High Street, stopped in the other day, for some information on the cement works in Rondout. Going back to 1897, there was the Newark Lime and Cement Co. on East Strand. There was also the New York and Rosendale Cement Co. at 22 Ferry Street according to the city directory. The 1875 Atlas of lithograph pictures has some good pictures of the Newark Lime and Cement Manufacturing Co's Works in Rondout of which James G. Lindsley was the agent. I think their store is still standing, and so are some of the massive stone structures on the hill.

The manufacture of cement was started some time after 1820, in a small way by three brothers, John, Moses and Jacob Hoffman, in the neighboring Town of Hurley, now Rosendale, according to a 1892 local history write-up. This was soon followed by Watson E. Lawrence, and it was said then, that there and in Kingston and neighboring towns, millions of dollars was invested in its manufacture. Iron rails stretching over the land in every direction were carrying Ulster County cement to every section of the country.

Remember Company Hill, running from Ferry Street up to Abeel Street which we youngsters used to enjoy. The iron stair-case went to a big old building, which I think was called the company office. They also had the Newark Lime and Cement Co. Store where they sold everything. It was on Tompkins Street and Strand in Rondout. It was founded in 1860 and run by Lambert J. DuBois. Those employed in the cement works and outsiders traded here. They invited farmers and others to sheds and a place to feed and rest their teams, which was a drawing convenience for their business. So different from our present day parking meters.

Woodstock Taxpayers Group Fixes Annual Meeting Date

The annual meeting of the Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association, always the biggest of the year, will be held at the Lake Hill firehouse on Saturday, August 12.

As usual, summer residents and their guests are encouraged to attend and participate in the election of next year's officers. Because of the scope of the agenda, the meeting will start at 7:30 p. m. instead of the usual hour of 8.

The nominating committee headed by Renato Leone reported at the last meeting and recommended the following slate of officers for the next calendar year: president, John Melia; vice president, Lawrence G. Casey; secretary, Mrs. Sonia Rice; and treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Melia. Melia, the presidential nominee, has long been active in the association's affairs. Casey is the incumbent president. Nominations for line officers and directors may be made from the floor.

Commenting on the annual meeting and its importance to the coming business year, president Casey said:

"Our annual meeting gives the members the opportunity to work with summer residents who cannot easily attend the regular monthly meetings. Over and above the semi-social aspect of the meeting is the election of officers and plans for next year's program.

Break Down Apathy

"We as a group have in the last six months accomplished a break through in public apathy. The taxpayers of Woodstock are beginning to accept the realization that nothing can be gained by sitting on one's hands," Casey continued. "We citizens of Woodstock are endowed with a nice town and a wonderful place to live, but only by interest and work can we guard against mismanagement."

The breakthrough referred to by Casey was the formation of the Woodstock chapter of the taxpayers association. This group under the guidance of Ben Merch as president is growing faster than anticipated by the parent group.

"This chapter headed by temporary officers is experiencing the usual growing pains in any new group," Casey said. "As these resolve, a unit of additional taxpayers, strong in purpose must emerge. The inevitable increase in membership and active participation can now have no other result but to show each individual his power as a taxpayer and voter when used collectively with that of his neighbors."

A special invitation has been extended by the officers of the present group to associate members who may wish to attend.

Members are reminded of the annual promotional program by chairman, Mrs. Hazel Freitag. Persons having tickets outstanding are urged to turn them in. The awards will be made at this meeting.

Cimarosa Work At the Turnau Pleases Critic

The Turnau Opera Company presented an eighteenth century opera buffa, Cimarosa's "Secret Marriage," Monday night at the Byrdcliffe Theatre in Woodstock. The affair was a benefit for the Kingston branch of the American Association of University Women and part of the proceeds will help support a scholarship to be awarded to a Kingston High School senior girl. There will be two more performances of this opera Friday and Saturday, August 11 and 12, which will be open to the general public.

"The Secret Marriage" is a typical Italian comic opera of the eighteenth century and was compounded of ingredients which were (and still are) guaranteed to provide good entertainment — pretty tunes, sex, humor and social satire. It tells of the efforts of a secretly married couple to get the bride's older sister married off to a count so that they can announce their own wedding. The ending, which is something of a surprise, is eminently "rational," according to the vogue of the day.

Musically, "Secret Marriage" sparkles with gay melodies — solo arias and concerted numbers for groups of singers ranging in number from two to six. The final sextet is magnificent. We particularly enjoyed the duets — the "catfight" between the two sisters, for example, and the "dogfight" between the father and the count. The satire in the latter is very pointed, as the middle-class father seeks the prestige of an alliance with aristocracy but is willing to accept a proposition that would reduce the dowry, thus saving him money.

Cimarosa's only fault as a composer was that he was not Mozart — this handicap is noticeable in tse slow numbers, which lack the harmonic richness and melodic invention of the Viennese master. But the patter songs sound quite Mozartean or, to put it conversely, Mozart learned the buffa style well from Cimarosa and other Neapolitan masters.

The cast not only performed well, but seemed to enjoy itself immensely — a fact which gives these Turnau productions a great deal of freshness. In this production, the bass, Douglas Bredt, as the father, was outstanding. He has range and power, useful attributes in the ensembles.

The other men, tenor Ray De Voll as the secret husband, and the baritone Alan Baker as the count, were also at their best.

They are very reliable — De Voll's sweet voice never fails to please and Baker combines a flair for characterization with a high degree of musicality.

The principal soprano role, that of the younger sister, was beautifully sung by Lucille Sullam, who must be tireless—she breezed through "Cosi Fan Tutte" only this past weekend.

Another Turnau veteran, Carolyn Chrisman, sang the part of the older sister with her usual enthusiasm. She has a talent for the broadly comic as well as the pretty ingenue type of role.

The part of the maiden aunt was sung by mezzo-soprano Jean Kraft, a very versatile singing actress — she was the frisky Cherubino in Mozart's "Figaro" and the crazed "Medium" in Menotti's chiller of that name. She did the Cimarosa part with a wry humor and held up her singing end perfectly.

Director Melvin Strauss' piano playing was very clipped and classical, except for the "night music" which introduces Act III — here the poetic touch prevailed. If we cannot have an orchestra at Byrdcliffe, at least we have Mr. Strauss.

Barbara Owens' stage business was delightful. We liked the Act II opening with the father and the count mimicking the other's "Penseroso" posture, and the scene in Act III when everyone carried candles . . . VICTOR LANDAU.

New Mail Route Slated to Start On August 19

On Saturday, August 19, the Woodstock post office will start their new delivery routes, Postmaster Leon Carey announced today.

The postmaster reported that in driving around town he has noticed on the planned foot carrier that some houses requesting delivery do not have suitable receptacles or boxes on their houses.

On the mounted routes, some boxes are not put up according to regulations nor do they have their name or street number painted on the boxes and on the rural routes some patrons do not have their names on the boxes.

Patrons must see that these regulations are carried out to insure receipt of their mail, the postmaster's announcement said. There will be new employes on these routes and these regulations will insure a proper distribution of the mail.

Newspaper publishers are asked, if possible, to put a notice in the paper requesting subscribers to send their new addresses. Addresses must be used on papers sent to subscribers to insure correct delivery of papers.

LL Drive Under Way in Township

Seventy-five impatient boys "raring to go!" Sixty of them playing their hearts out on four regular Little League teams four nights a week! fifteen of them practicing diligently on a farm team, hoping to be next year's regular stars. Twenty-eight volunteer adults giving freely of their time and energy to keep the ball rolling. A bleacher full of cheering fans, rooting for their favorite team—the Dodgers, Giants, Indians or Yankees.

This is the picture of Woodstock Township's Little League, which is experiencing one of its most successful seasons. It will soons be drawing to a close, and along with the exciting memories of a spectacular catch or a grand slammer, there is the grim reality of bills yet to be paid.

Equipment, balls, bats, field maintenance, insurance and registration fees cost money right now—more, in fact, than they ever have before. These costs for the current year are averaging over $10 per boy. Outfitting the boys in new uniforms next season will run close to $400.

Woodstock has had a Little League for a number of years. It has received enthusiastic support and cooperation in the past and has become an established highlight of community life. The boys are depending on you to insure the continuation of this vital project. No Little League can be any stronger that the people who support it!

Don't wait to be solicited personally or by mail. Send your contributions today to Woodstock Township Little League, Irwin Arlt, Treasurer, Woodstock. Help keep the ball rolling!

Fire Company Announces New Radio Hookup

The Radio Committee of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 reported at the August meeting that two radio units with call letters 2-Q 3229 were put in service in the fire station on August 1.

These units were installed to better service the people of the fire district. They will enable the company to maintain radio contact between the fire station and the apparatus at the scene of the emergency. It will also enable the company to get more help to the scene faster when it is needed. One radio has been installed in the fire station and will be known as Unit No. 1 and one radio in the emergency truck to be known as Unit No. 2. Whenever the company it out on a call there will always be one man remaining in the station to handle all radio calls.

It was announced that the annual picnic will be held at the Woodstock Estates on Sunday, Sept. 10. Members will be notified by mail.

Ernst Koehn was elected a member of the company. Gene Snyder resigned as 2nd lieutenant, but remains as one of the drivers of the emergency truck. Robert Hastie was elected 2nd lieutenant to fill the unexpired term of Snyder.

A committee was appointed to arrange for the annual ball. Date and place will be announced at the next meeting.

Captain Chet Wolven served as chairman of the meeting in the absence of Fire Chief George Haythorne.

Set Annual Meeting For Consignor Group

The consignor members of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will hold their annual meeting Wednesday, Aug. 16, at 8 p. m. in the Guild Gallery.

Carl Benenati, Associate in Industrial Education, Department of State Education, will address the meeting. Mr. Benenati will present some new and inspiring ideas whereby the interests and activities of the Guild will be widened.

Following the address, a brief business meeting will be held, at which new members of the shop board will be elected to replace those whose terms expire and other immediate business will be transacted.

It is important that all members of the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, as well as consignor members, attend, and their presence is strongly urged.

Arts-Crafts Program Slated at Rec Field

A program known as "Children's Arts and Crafts" will be held Thursday, Aug. 17, at Andy Lee Memorial Field in Woodstock. The program staged in conjunction with the summer playground gets under way at 7 p. m.

There will be a variety of handiwork present and will represent the work that has gone on in the "little green building" during the course of the summer.

To make it a little more interesting, there will be awards offered in many different categories for all youngsters who participate in the show. All parents, friends and children are invited to come to the program at the field. An interesting show is promised and the evening will conclude with a movie at dusk.

Set Date of Award For Miss Woodstock

Miss Woodstock of 1961 will be given away for the benefit of the Jewelry Table of the Woodstock Library Fair. Surprised? This blond little lady is about 14 inches tall and is, literally, a doll.

Mrs. John Barlow of Philadelphia, a long time Shady resident, has painstakingly created the doll's wardrobe. She has an everyday outfit including hand-knit sweater and hat with sequinned skirt, a nightgown, and an exquisite evening dress with velvet coat topped off with a tiny fur muff. Among other clothes the young lady has high heeled shoes and two complete sets of lingerie with a naughty black lace bra for parties.

Miss Woodstock will be at the library on Friday afternoon, August 11, between 1:30 and 5:30. Mrs. Harvey Emrich, chairman of the Jewelry Table, to receive donations.

Most of the U. S. stainless steel production comes from Massillon, Ohio.

Plane Hijacking is Dizzy, Almost Incredible Story

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before your blood pressure goes up, thinking of Fidel Castro and hijacked American planes, look at the record. It's a dizzy, almost incredible story, compounded of confusion.

So far as the record shows Castro initiated none of the hijackings. There were four. Three of the four planes were forced to land in Cuba. Castro immediately released two, kept one. The fourth got detoured to El Paso.

None of the five hijackers involved was a Cuban citizen. Two were Americans from Arizona, one was a Frenchman, one a Puerto Rican, and one, a waiter, was born in Cuba but had become a naturalized American citizen.

Meanwhile Cubans fleeing Castro hijacked or flew 24 of his planes to this country. The United States returned 14 of them to him. The other 10 were seized under a court order to be sold for a debt owed by the Cuban government to a Miami businessman.

And if Castro had used his head he probably could have gotten the 10 back, too. How? A State Department spokesman said: If Castro had invoked Cuban sovereignty over the planes the American court most likely would have refused to let the planes be seized.

Simple Solution

Why didn't he do that, since it sounds so simple? The State Department spokesman said this was the answer: He probably didn't know how he could do that, or he didn't think of it, or perhaps he couldn't find a lawyer to represent him here.

But that's only the beginning.

Wednesday a French gunman, over Mexico and at gunpoint, forced the pilot of a Pan American World Airways plane with 81 persons aboard to fly him to Havana. After it was all over an official of the airline said the gunman was incoherent and had no connection with Cuba. Crew members described the hijacker as wild eyed and apparently mentally disturbed.

Before all this was known there were angry shouts in Congress. But Castro would not have had to send an agent to Mexico to capture a Pan American plane. Pan American is the only American airline still maintaining regular flights between Cuba and this country. So if Castro wanted to, he could have helped himself to some Pan American planes on the ground in Havana.

Not every sad-eyed woman has loved and lost — she may have got him. © NEA

Worst Possible Time

But this would have been the worst possible time to hijack an American plane. All the American nations are meeting right now in Uruguay where the United States has offered $20 billion in Latin-American aid.

One of Castro's chief lieutenants, Ernesto Guevara, is there, trying to make the United States look like a villain. He made a speech to that effect. Castro would be the villain if he turned hijacker at this time.

The truly ludicrous touch came here:

Instead of trying to chastise Castro directly, the United States is anxious for the Latin-American countries to crack down on him. No one has been working harder to get just this crackdown on Castro than the Colombian foreign minister, Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala. And Castro knows it. By chance, the minister was on the plane hijacked Wednesday and forced down in Havana.

If Castro had tried to hold him there would have been a Latin-American explosion. Castro's government lost no time in announcing it was releasing the plane right away "in deference to the Colombian minister." Castro even went to the airport to see him. The diplomat quoted Castro as expressing mortification.

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — A few years ago, it was packing telephone booths. Now it's packing compact foreign cars. Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity won the sardine derby at the University of Chattanooga by packing 26 fraternity members into a French compact.

Central to Drop Albany, Chatham Railroad Trips

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized the New York Central Railroad to discontinue Beeliner service between Albany and Chatham, Columbia County.

The commission, at the same time, granted the Albany-Nassau Bus Corp. temporary certificate to operate between Albany and Chatham.

The railroad, under the order, may terminate service on or after Sept. 2 The bus line must begin operations over its new routes by Sept. 5.

The PSC adopted reports by Examiner William T. Wilkinson that limited use made of the trains by residents "makes their continued operation uneconomical and unnecessary.

"The initiation of omnibus service into the Chatham area... will provide the public tributary to the Chatham area with an adequate transportation facility."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ham, a traditional hot weather favorite, ranks high this week among weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

Other pork cuts on the bargain list include chops, loins and smoked butts.

Beef specials include chuck, rib and pot roasts, standing ribs and sirloin steak.

Lamb legs are featured in widely scattered areas.

In the fowl department, the specials are frying chickens, barbecued chickens, chicken parts, ducks and turkeys.

Scallops are the most widely advertised fish items.

While lettuce currently is among the best vegetable buys, its price is expected to go up, making salads more costly. California farmers are limiting output in an effort to boost prices.

Other best buys are beets, cabbage, cauliflower, corn, eggplant, nearby lettuce, peppers, tomatoes, Eastern potatoes and yellow squash.

Considered good buys are beans, carrots, cucumbers, escarole, endive, green and dry onions, parsley, okra, California potatoes and green squash.

Limes, cherries, cantaloupe, lemons and nectarines are best buys among fruits.

Good fruit buys are apples, avocados, blueberries, mangoes, peaches, grapes and oranges.

Withdraw Charge; Saugerties Youth Released by Court

One of three Saugerties youths charged with petit larceny in connection with thefts reported at the home of Thomas D. Penning of Shultis Corners was released and bail exonerated when charges were withdrawn at a hearing Tuesday afternoon before Saugerties Town Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers.

Anton W. Refregier, 18 of Shultis Corners pleaded innocent to the charge and was released on $25 bail pending the hearing.

The other two reportedly involved in the case, Thomas Abrehansen, 16 of Shultis Corners and Maurice Luther, 16 of Centerville pleaded guilty to the charge Saturday and were sentenced to 15 days in Ulster County Jail.

Kingston Troopers David Wachtel and William Brennan, who investigated with Saugerties Town Constable Charles Riley said Abrehansen and Luther entered the Penning living room last Thursday afternoon and left with about 40 HiFi 45 RPM records.

Troopers said they found a go-kart owned by Refregier which reportedly had a motor in it which was missing from the Penning residence.

Catholic Veterans To Honor General

GEN. DOUGLAS MAC ARTHUR

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur will receive one of the highest awards of the Catholic War Veterans of the United States—the "Honor et Veritas" award.

James W. Fay of New York, CWV National Commander, said Wednesday the presentation would be made Aug. 19, during the organization's 26th national convention.

The second of the war veterans two top awards, the "Celtic Cross Citation," will go to Archbishop Edward F. Hoban, bishop of Cleveland.

Search for Thief Who Entered Residence

Search continued today for a thief who entered a Pawling Mountain residence on Monday and stole four rings valued at more than $500.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan said the intruder ransacked the home of Angus Brownell, well-known area sportsman, and stole a man's ruby wedding ring in a gold setting, two diamond wedding bands and a gold ring with diamond setting.

Brownell has served as an officer of the Green Haven Rod and Gun Club and the Dutchess County Fish and Game Club.

The house was entered sometime between Monday morning and 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Consumers in the Port Ewen Water District have been requested by Harry Newton, water superintendent, to conserve water due to the continued dry spell.

Dutchess Jail Is OvercrowdedSays Sheriff Quinlan

An attempted escape from the Dutchess County jail by four prisoners last Saturday demonstrated the need for additional guards, according to Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan, who contended the jail is overcrowded.

At times, the sheriff said, only two guards are on duty in the jail to care for more than 100 prisoners. The regular guard detail, working on shifts, is 14.

Quinlan said the increased prisoner population in the last year has created a staff problem and added he plans to ask for more guards in his department's 1962 budget.

Supervisor Lyndon Hickman, Town of East Fishkill, chairman of the Board of Supervisors' sheriff's committee, said Wednesday the committee is available to confer at any time with Quinlan to discuss the jail guard force. He said if there is need for more personnel at the jail it will be recommended soon to the Board of Supervisors without waiting for the next budget which becomes effective on Jan. 1, 1962.

Meanwhile, the sheriff was preparing a full report of last Saturday night's attempted escape from jail by four inmates. Quinlan said he will give the report to District Attorney Raymond C. Bratta for review by a grand jury.

Hyde Park Man Gets FHA Post

A Hyde Park man has been appointed assistant to the regional director of the Federal Housing Administration, 2 Park Avenue, New York City, according to Albert L. Hecht, chairman of the Dutchess County Democratic committee.

Hecht said Harold M. Clay, 5 Point Place, Hyde Park, was appointed by Neal J. Hardy, commissioner of the FHA under an appointment by President Kennedy.

Clay will receive an annual salary of $14,000.

Clay, a former director of the New York City FHA office for five years and more recently manager of the mortgage department of the Poughkeepsie Savings Bank, will work in the New York office on Park Avenue.

The regional office will have charge of multi-family housing, urban renewal, slum clearance and housing for the aged projects in New York State and New England.

Clay plans to maintain his Hyde Park residence.

Port Ewen Man Pleads Guilty to Assault

A 56-year-old proprietor of a Port Ewen gasoline station pleaded guilty Wednesday afternoon to two charges of third degree assault and Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus, fined the defendant $25 on each charge. The fines were paid.

Louis Duquesne, RD 5, Town of Ulster, was arrested yesterday by State Trooper Thomas Crowley of Lake Katrine on informations filed by Grant Avery and his son, Frank, both of Olive Bridge.

According to the complaint, the Averys were working on a project near Duquesne's service station, when the defendant and Grant Avery had a discussion about $3 reportedly owed the service station operator.

Avery said Duquesne punched his eye. Avery's son saw a commotion and went to the scene, where, the information charged, Duquesne punched him.

Rundle has been associated with the local YMCA youth division on a part time basis and plans to attend Springfield College in the fall of 1962 to continue in youth work. (Freeman photo)

Piper Laurie Story Proof Success Is Not Everything

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Six years ago, Piper Laurie left the life of a movie star "because it brought me no joy."

She was back in Hollywood briefly, again the star of a movie. While she still seems not to be joyful, the intervening years appeared to have brought her more happiness than she ever knew as one of Universal's top personalities.

Earlier this year, Piper starred with Paul Newman and Jackie Gleason in "The Hustler," filmed in New York. The picture might well establish her as a dramatic actress instead of a film personality with a tricked-up name.

The Piper Laurie story offers proof that success isn't everything. She had it. Her name in lights. Her photo in the magazines. Her face on the screen opposite Tony Curtis, Tyrone Power, Dana Andrews, Rock Hudson.

Time to Take Stand

"I was miserable," she recalled.

"I did about 15 pictures at Universal in six years. Not one of them could I be proud of. Finally I reached a crisis. When I realized I was starting a picture which I knew would be bad, it was time to take a stand."

Her stand was that she wanted out of her contract. The studio finally agreed, after exacting a deal for her to do three more films at a small figure. One option was exercised.

Since leaving Universal, Piper has done only one film, "Until They Sail." She has also distinguished herself in a number of TV performances, especially as an alcoholic in "Day of Wine and Roses." Her return in "The Hustler" could well be the start of a new, dramatic film career for her, and 20th-Fox has options on her services.

Breaking Difficult

Piper admitted that breaking away from the life of a film star was sometimes difficult.

"I'm lazy," she admitted. "I like to be waited on. That was something I got all the time at Universal. Everything was done for me. It was an easy life, but it had its drawbacks."

Another thing that rankled her was her screen name. She was born Rosetta Jacobs. When she became a starlet at 17, someone at the studio handed her a slip of paper with the name Piper Laurie on it. This was in the same era when Roy Fitzgerald became Rock Hudson and Bernie Schwartz turned into Tony Curtis.

Can't Get Used to It

She still can't get used to being Piper Laurie.

Piper now lives in a New York apartment—"the California life is nice, but too easy." Still unwed at 29, she said she has come close to marrying a couple of times.

She carved a cork from a thermos bottle to fit the hole. "They wanted to know if it came with the car," she says.

Two Are Killed In Explosion At Coffee Plant

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP)—A wing of an instant coffee plant blew up Wednesday killing two men and injuring six.

Rescue crews uncovered the bodies of the two victims early today.

Identified were Shelby Dotson, 22, and Victor Frisse, 57.

Only one of the injured men was in a serious condition.

The blast damaged a 2½-story brick building of the Nestle Co., Inc. Cause of the explosion hasn't been determined.

More than 100 men—many of them construction workers who were on strike—worked for hours clawing away debris to reach the buried men.

Large boiler-like percolators and drying equipment were housed in the damaged wing. The ground in the area was littered with coffee beans.

About a fourth of an old portion of the plant was wrecked. A new, larger portion was not damaged.

Normally only two men worked in the blast area, a plant spokesman said, but eight had been assigned there Wednesday.

Eisenhower Has Passed Test for Driver's License

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has passed his driver's test with flying colors.

"In my opinion he's an excellent driver," said State Police corporal Edward Gallagher who administered the tests to Eisenhower Wednesday.

Eisenhower passed both an oral examination and a road test at the State Police substation in Gettysburg to qualify for a Pennsylvania driver's license.

Gallagher said Eisenhower easily answered 10 questions relating to the state motor vehicle code and performed well behind the wheel.

Earlier, he passed a physical examination which is required of new driver applicants in Pennsylvania.

Ulster Hose Fair To Open Tonight

Ulster Hose Company No. 5, Town of Ulster, will open its annual fair at 6:30 p. m. today on the firehouse grounds with numerous new attractions for children and adults, according to the committee.

Firemen have been working the last week preparing the grounds, erecting booths for games, refreshments and other specialties and arranging for special events for children, which will include several rides.

The committee, which includes Ernest Petersen and Paul Werner, said a large attendance is anticipated at the fair which will open tonight and continue starting at 6:30 p. m. on August 11 and 12.

matter of Fact

Timing of a stolen base makes the attempt precarious. From pitcher to home plate, the ball is in flight half a second. The throw from home to second base takes 1½ seconds. A run can't be made in less than three seconds. So, in normal circumstances, the stopwatch is against the runner.

Passenger Relates How Man With Big Gun Takes Plane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A pistol-waving hijacker, described as wild-haired and insane-looking, drew salutes and cheers from Cuban soldiers who arrested him, a passenger related.

Glenn White, a Detroit auto executive, said "my first reaction was this guy was sick — awfully sick.

"This fellow with the wild hair ran down the aisle.

"I saw him stick an awfully big gun up against the steward's heart" soon after the Mexico City takeoff of the Pan American jetliner, White said.

"He jumped through into the cockpit and slammed the door. That was the last we saw of him until Cuban police escorted him from the jet at Havana.

"I and some others tried to figure out how to grab the plane ourselves. But we decided against it.

Drank, Relaxed

"Pan American opened the bar, and everybody had a drink and just relaxed.

"Right after we landed, this fellow was taken out of the plane and those soldiers on the ground saluted and cheered him as he walked toward the terminal."

Identified by FBI

The hijacker was later identified by the FBI as Albert Charles Cadon, 27, an itinerant French artist with a record of mental disturbance who has been working as a restaurant employe in New York City.

Cadon was quoted as saying he hijacked the plane to protest United States policy on the question of Algeria. He had earlier been thought to be a French Algerian.

Hector Vioni, 53, Richmond, Ind., attorney, said "A blue streak—the hijacker — shot down the aisle past me, backed the steward against a seat and ... kicked open the cockpit door.

"I don't think you would say there was any panic, although I think most of us were plenty nervous."

Plane Capt. Carl Ballard of Houston, Tex., said Cadon threatened us several times. We were in great danger of being shot—not intentionally, but by accident. He said he'd kill us, and he said that when the problem came up we were not to land for fuel. He told us we'd crash first."

Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala, one of the passengers, gave a terse account of the hijacking exploit.

Rushes Down Aisle

"Five minutes after leaving Mexico City I saw a passenger rushing down the aisle from the back of the cabin. He had a pistol in his hand. He argued with a crewman. Then he pushed his foot in the door to the pilot's cabin and opened it. He closed it behind him with the two pilots inside."

Fidel Castro personally escorted Turbay from Havana airport to the plane for its trip to Miami. Turbay quoted the Cuban prime minister as expressing mortification over the hijacking.

"'This should not happen again,'" Turbay said Castro told him.

"'On Aug. 4 I sent a note to the United States government asking that steps be taken to prevent recurrence of mutual hijacking.'"

The hijacker himself injected political troubles from a different part of the world into the grab of the plane in skies often troubled during Cuban-American tension.

Tells of Comment

A crewman of the hijacked plane said Cadon said in the cockpit "I am not a Communist, and not a Cuban. I do not like the way Washington interfered in the Algerian situation. I am taking this means to show my protest."

The Rev. Clifford Shumaker of Miranda, Calif., said that during the Havana layover "we were treated wonderfully. They even put on a musical show for us."

But Vioni expressed bitter resentment at the long Havana stop.

"There was no reason for Castro and his dirty-maned pirates to detain us 8½ hours. The plane had fuel. The crew was ready and able to fly," Vioni said.

"They put us all into an air-conditioned room and then once in a while they would bring us some bum sandwiches."

Eleanor Weis, one of four stewardesses on the hijacked plane, said "The no smoking sign was still posted (for takeoff) when the man rushed down the aisle and got into the cockpit. We were still in the process of going up."

Miss Weis, from New York City, said it was a while before all the passengers realized what had happened.

"The purser made the announcement. There was no message from the cockpit. They couldn't talk, and the door was locked from inside. The passengers were completely calm."

Miss Weis said the passengers and crew spent their entire Havana interlude in airport waiting rooms.

U.S. Government Files Charge Against Cadon

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The federal government today filed a complaint charging airplane hijacker Albert Charles Cadon, 27, with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The charges were on two counts and said the Frenchman hijacked a Pan American World Airways DC8 jetliner Wednesday and forced it at gunpoint to fly to Havana. They were filed before U.S. Commissioner Roger Edward Davis.

Cadon was still in Havana, held by the Cuban authorities who removed him from the Pan American World Airways DC8. Cuba disclaimed any hand in the hijacking and permitted the plane to fly to Miami.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Cadon would be charged here with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon, and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The charges would presumably be pressed in the event Cuba permits his return to the United States.

None of the 82 passengers and crew aboard the airliner was harmed, either by Cadon or the Cubans, in the hijacking Wednesday—latest in a series.

Most of the passengers spent the night in Miami and were to continue their interrupted journeys today. Some left Wednesday night.

Cadon was quoted by crew members as saying he was hijacking the plane to protest United States policy in Algeria, and that led to reports that he was a French Algerian.

The FBI said later, however, that Cadon was a French native who came to this country in 1957 and was committed briefly to New York's Bellevue Hospital last fall for mental observation. He was described by the FBI as an unbalanced itinerant artist and restaurant worker.

His wife, Charlotte, told the FBI that Cadon was an admirer of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. She said he left their New York City home last Friday after a quarrel and told her he was going to take a bus to Mexico.

It was shortly after the airliner had left Mexico City that Cadon hijacked it.

Other Topics

During the news conference, lasting little more than a half hour, Kennedy also spoke on these other subjects:

NUCLEAR—The panel which he assigned the task of determining whether tests can be conducted without revealing the fact through earth shocks has turned in a highly classified report. But Kennedy said he could disclose that its findings have made him feel "more urgently than ever" that an inspection system as proposed by the United States and Great Britain is essential to any nuclear test ban agreement.

Asked if Dean's mission to Geneva would be this government's last try at reaching agreement, Kennedy said the Soviet attitude would be immediately apparent by its response.

"We will try always if there is any genuine hope of success," Kennedy added. "But as I have indicated, this probably is a decisive meeting, because we will now find out whether there is any prospect of bringing an end to nuclear testing."

SPACE—The United States is now spending as much in personnel and money as it can on space programs without reaching a point of diminishing returns, the President said. He expressed hope, however, that the rate of U.S. space progress can be accelerated.

Kennedy said he is satisfied in his own mind that the U.S.S.R. has placed two men in global orbit.

And he said this country cannot permit another nation whose attitude toward us may be hostile to stay ahead.

Furthermore, Kennedy said the United States would act in the United Nations General Assembly this fall toward achieving an international agreement on the use of space.

GERMAN — Kennedy said the United States has not attempted to encourage or discourage the flight of thousands upon thousands of East Germans through the West Berlin escape hatch to the free world.

He said the movement from East to West is of concern to the Communists because it presents "rather illuminating evidence of the comparative values of the free life and open society and those in a closed society, under the Communist system."

FORUMS—Kennedy was asked about the controversy which grew from a memo that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara protesting the role of military officers in public forums which the senator said have distorted their declared objective of educating Americans on the Communist menace.

The President said the Constitution wisely keeps the military out of politics. A problem will always exist, he went on, in enabling military men to express their views on great problems while keeping them out of political life and maintaining civilian control over the armed forces. But he said the National Security Council should clarify the directive on which the military services have based their educational programs.

SUMMIT—Kennedy said, as he has before, that no East-West summit conference will be useful unless advance groundwork has been laid to insure some success. As for a meeting of the Western heads of government, he said he is prepared to enter such a conference "if it should prove important in coordinating our policy on any matter." He mentioned Berlin as a particular matter that might be dealt with.

INABILITY—Kennedy said he had established the same setup that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower worked out to provide for the vice president to act as president if the president is incapacitated by injury or illness.

This involves an agreement with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

INTER-AMERICAN —Kennedy said his alliance for progress plan to aid underdeveloped nations of Latin America "would be completely useless unless an effort were made by all concerned" to help themselves. He called the conference now under way at Punta del Este, Uruguay, "perhaps one of the most significant meetings in the history of the Western Hemisphere in this century." If it fails, he said, communism will gain and free societies will suffer.

AID—Kennedy said that if his foreign aid program is adopted by Congress, administration of U.S. assistance to other countries will be more effective and efficient. He said five new area administrators and 45 to 50 new officials to supervise programs in individual countries would be brought in.

COMMON MARKET — The President said the United States welcomes the prospect of Great Britain's participation in the European Common Market.

PEACE CORPS—Kennedy said the response to the Peace Corps has been wholehearted and "one of the most encouraging features of our recent months."

He called on Congress to make the corps permanent and said if funds requested by the corps are granted, more than 2,700 volunteers will be serving in various countries by next June 30.

Asks FBI Assist In Search for Po'keepsie Girl

Search for a 12-year-old Town of Poughkeepsie girl, missing from home since July 13, continued today, according to Town Police Chief Vincent Smith, who Wednesday asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to assist in the search.

Smith identified the girl as Evelyn Cunningham, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Cunningham, a nurse at Oakwood School, South Road, Town of Poughkeepsie. Smith said the girl's mother notified police on July 20 that her daughter was missing, and the following day authorities sent out a 13-state teletype alarm.

The police chief explained that the FBI were called into the case because of a possibility the girl might have left with a carnival which passed through Poughkeepsie about the time she disappeared.

Smith said authorqities in several communities had checked carnivals in an effort to find a trace of the girl. He stated that replies had been received from authorities on Long Island, Nassau County, Fairfield, Pa., Waterbury, Pa., Bergenfield, N. Rusk Talks With Adenauer Today For 2-Hour Period

CADENABBIA, Italy (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred for two hours today with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, winding up a week-long Berlin crisis mission in Europe.

Neither commented after the meeting, at Adenauer's vacation retreat in this north Italian resort area. A spokesman said there West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano and the U.S. ambassador to Bonn, Walter C. Dowling, were present at the talks.

It was Rusk's final conference on his current mission to Western Europe, which has brought him into contact with representatives of all the United States' North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

Rusk left later in the day for Washington, with a brief stopover in Paris to pick up Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Over the weekend he discussed with the foreign ministers of France, Britain and West Germany measures to take to counter the Soviet threat to West Berlin.

Tuesday he won NATO council endorsement in Paris for a proposal to strengthen NATO forces with up to 80,000 men.

In Rome, Rusk conferred with Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani and Foreign Minister Antonio Segni. They told him Italy hopes for a peaceful solution to the Berlin crisis but will always remain faithful to NATO.

Rusk briefed the Italians on the talks in Paris. There had been reports that some Rome officials were disappointed they were not invited.

A report from Paris said the West had decided to take the initiative to convene an East-West conference on Berlin but not until after the Sept. 17 West German election.

Although a slave state, Delaware did not secede from the Union in the Civil War.

Russia Accuses U. S. of Wanting Phony Test Ban

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today accused the United States of wanting a nuclear test ban so full of loopholes that testing could actually continue.

The Soviets also charged the Western powers want a test ban agreement which would permit them to collect intelligence data in the Soviet Union, and a control apparatus which would be a "pliant tool" in the hands of the United States and Britain.

The charges were made in a diplomatic note published by the government paper Izvestia and broadcast by Moscow radio.

The note, delivered to the U. S. Embassy Wednesday, replies to an American note of July 15.

The United States in its note accused the Soviet Union of trying to sabotage the Geneva nuclear test ban conference. It urged the Soviet government to make a new start "despite the lateness of the hour."

Strawberry Cream's Year-Round Treat

LUSCIOUS strawberries, like those in this tempting pie, and available the year round thanks to modern technology.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Izaak Walton wrote about strawberries, "Doubtless God could make a better berry, but doubtless God never did." Most people feel that way today, now that modern agriculture and technology makes fresh or frozen strawberries available the year-round. Today, also, technology makes instant powdered cream available at all times on your pantry shelf. So the answer is berry cream pie. Or individual tarts if your prefer.

Luscious Strawberry Cream Pie

1 9-inch baked pie shell
3 cups fresh strawberries, whole or sliced (or frozen strawberries)

Cream Filling

½ cup instant powdered cream
½ cup sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups water
1 egg, beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

In small saucepan, combine instant powdered cream, sugar, cornstarch and salt; add water and egg and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Allow cream filling to cool while preparing glaze.

Glaze

1 cup sliced strawberries
¾ cup sugar
4 teaspoons cornstarch

Crush strawberries and combine with sugar and cornstarch in small saucepan. Cook gently until thick and clear, stirring constantly. To assemble pie, spread filling over bottom of pie crust; arrange 3 cups strawberries over cream filling. Spread hot glaze over strawberries. Chill pie at least two hours before serving.

Plan to Obtain Operator License Easier This Year

ALBANY — It's easier this year than ever before to renew your New York State operator's license, Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults explained today.

Before next Tuesday, every operator whose valid license expires on September 30 will have received one of the Department's new punch-card applications in the mail.

To have the punch card validated, there are three steps motorists must take:

1. Check the pre-printed punch card for accuracy.
2. Answer a few health questions and sign your name.
3. Take — or mail — the application to your nearest Motor Vehicle issuing office, together with the fee stamped on the application and your old license renewal stub.

If your papers are all in order, the clerk at the issuing office will accept your fee and stamp part of the application. This becomes your license, and conveniently fits into your wallet.

If there are inaccuracies in the pre-printed matter, you should point these out to the clerk in the issuing office. In most cases, it is possible to get your new license right away, and a corrected license soon afterwards.

Commissioner Hults had this additional warning:

"If your operator's license expires this September 30, and you haven't received your punch-card application in the mail by August 15, contact your nearest motor vehicle office immediately."

Half of all resin and turpentine produced in the United States comes from pine trees of Georgia.

Gets June Award At Griffis AFB

JOHN S. NOVAK

Airman First Class John S. Novak, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Novak of 21 Washington Avenue, was honored at Griffis Air Force Base, Rome, as "Airman of the Month" for June, it was learned today.

Novak, a member of the 2019th Communications Squadron Air Traffic Controller Section, reported for duty at Griffiss in November, 1959. This is the second time he has been selected for this honor.

His watch supervisor commented in his recommendation note that "Airman Novak's military bearing, positive attitude and dependability have continued to be outstanding. His great desire for self-improvement is exceeded only by his devotion to duty."

Hailing from Honesdale, Pa., Novak is a graduate of Honesdale High School where he won letters in baseball and basketball. He graduated from the Air Traffic Control School at Keesler AFB, Mississippi, in September, 1956.

Before his assignment at Griffiss he served a one-year tour of duty at Thule Air Base, Greenland.

He is a member of the American Legion. Fishing and hunting are high on his list of hobbies.

Novak and his wife and two children make their home at 314 Liberty Gardens, Rome, N. Y.

matter of fact

Contradictory though it sounds, the snake with the deadliest venom isn't always the worst killer. Compare the tiger snake with the king cobra. The tiger snake's venom is 20 times stronger. But the king cobra is bigger and is easily excited and unpredictable. He strikes over and over again. With good reason, the king cobra is more feared than the highly poisonous tiger snake.

Cuban Economist Sees Revolution In Latin America

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—A hemisphere conference conceived to turn back the Communist drive in Latin America surrendered the spotlight Wednesday night to a leading spokesman for communism in the Western hemisphere — and he made the most of it.

While supporters of President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress were attending a reception in a nearby hotel, Cuban economic boss Ernesto Guevara held court for the Latin-American press.

The representative of the little Caribbean island of six million people held the spotlight alone during this period of the Inter-American Economic Conference—whose chief aim is to offset Cuba's revolutionary influence on Latin America's 200 million people.

Guevara had nothing new to say. Most of it was a repetition of Cuban and Communist propaganda. He insisted that the United States is blind to the realities of Latin America, and that because of this the socialist—meaning Communist — revolution on the continent is just around the corner. He said revolution would come in Latin America as a protest against the past and present but that it would become "socialist" immediately as new governments are installed.

This is standard Marxist-Leninist "national liberation" propaganda, and the United States is doing little on the popular level to combat it.

There has been a considerable amount of enthusiasm generated here for the U.S. program, which envisions the investment of more than $20 billion by the United States and other foreign sources in Latin America in the next 10 years if these countries take steps necessary to develop their potentials and join the war against poverty, misery and illiteracy.

But the Alliance for Progress has yet to step down to the lower levels of the Latin-American population. Guevara and the Communists have not lost sight of those levels and their potential for revolution.

In essence, that seems to be the meaning and reason for the Cuban's appearance at a conference where otherwise he obviously does not belong. He is a revolutionary figure in the midst of representatives of a class searching for new ways to save itself from destruction in the fire of revolution.

Nyack Man Indicted In Fatal Auto Crash

MONTICELLO, N. Y. (AP)—Thomas Hayden, 29, of Nyack, was indicted Wednesday by a Sullivan County grand jury in the auto death of Nathan Stanton, 45, of Brooklyn.

Hayden was charged with criminal negligence and driving while intoxicated.

The charges stem from the death of Stanton on Route 17. Police said they chased Hayden at speeds over 100 miles per hour before the fatal crash.

Mistaken Identity

TULSA, Okla. (AP) —A man walked into a department store, obviously waiting for some one. As he stood motionless next to a mannequin, a customer walked up to the man and felt the material of his coat sleeve. When he started to touch the other sleeve, the first man said: "That sleeve is just like the other one."

Preliminary Verdict Of Suicide Reported

A preliminary verdict of suicide was reported Wednesday by Dr. E. Alan Larkin, Amenia, a Dutchess County assistant medical examiner, who investigated the death of a former 67-year-old Hudson River State Hospital patient.

Town of Poughkeepsie Police Chief Vincent Smith identified the man as Addison Humboldt Cardwell, a former Poughkeepsie resident who had no permanent address at the time of death.

Cardwell was found dead yesterday morning in a rest room at the Cheney building at the state hospital in Poughkeepsie. Police said Cardwell had razor blade cuts on his right leg.

Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan stated that one of two cuts on Cardwell's leg was severe. The other was superficial.

Dr. Larkin said there was a note pinned to Cardwell's clothing asking that his son, John Cardwell, Croton-on-Hudson be notified in case of accident or illness. The assistant medical examiner said the man had bled to death.

Chief Smith said Cardwell had been discharged on May 5 as a patient at the state hospital. Cardwell was a native of Mt. Vernon, a veteran of World War I and formerly resided in Middletown.

Authorities said Cardwell had pleaded guilty to public intoxication in Poughkeepsie City Court Tuesday and received a 30-day suspended sentence. Cardwell apparently returned to the state hospital after his release in court.

Escapes Injury as Car Goes Over Bank

Henry Hopper, 22, of High Falls escaped serious injury Wednesday night when the car he was driving was forced off the highway at Rosendale and down a 30 foot embankment, Kingston state police reported.

Troopers John Salters and W. E. Wiedemann said the 1961 sedan owned by Alfred Hopper, also of High Falls, was proceeding south on Bruceville Road, Rosendale, on an upgrade and rounding a curve, when an unknown vehicle going north forced the Hopper car off the west shoulder and down the embankment. This mishap occurred at 9 p. m.

GRANDMA BROWN'S HOME BAKED BEANS

They look home made . . . they taste home made . . . and once you put 'em on the picnic table at a cookout, who's to say they aren't home made?

In fact, there are only two ways you can get baked beans so savory good, so surprisingly different . . . spend hours and hours fixing them yourself . . . or open a can of Grandma Brown's.

Every tender little white pea bean in this solid-packed can is cooked, simmered and baked slowly, in small open pans, as they were in the days of the old iron stove.

Spoon 'em out . . . heat 'em up . . . add your own personal touch of brown sugar or molasses or crisp curls of bacon . . . and watch the fun as your family discovers how real honest-to-goodness home baked beans are supposed to taste. Make your next picnic surprisingly different . . . make it a picnic with Grandma Brown's.

Family Comedy, Says Donna Reed, Keeps Series Up

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Donna Reed is something of a Hollywood Mollie Pitcher—the lone feminine star whose series will continue. "The Donna Reed Show" is beginning its fourth season in television.

"The Loretta Young Show," "The June Allyson Show" and the Barbara Stanwyck Show" all went into reruns at the end of last season, Miss Young's after many successful seasons and Miss Stanwyck' after only one.

One reason Miss Reed offers for her TV survival is the nature of the series—family comedy.

"I think we've come through mostly by accident," blonde and youthful-looking Donna explained during a short break between shots at the studio. "But also I think we're still here because we have a series in which relationships have been established between the players. The other women had anthology series with each program different. And I think that series like ours are what people stay home to watch. And I think that our greatest asset is that all of us—Carl Betz, Shelley Fabares and Paul Peterson and I—have been playing together as a family over the years."

Donna feels that the long-playing family shows are shrugged off by television writers and critics.

"You can't get into a show like this by watching it once or occasionally," she said. "We work hard and make a lot of episodes, and some are bound to be better than others. But I'd like the critics to watch our show five weeks in a row. That way they would really find out what we're doing. Then I'd like them to go to a movie—a clean family-type movie—and sit down and tell us which came off better. After all, it's impossible to find anything really new in family comedy—it's the way its handled that makes the difference."

About this time last year, Richard Boone was being very firm about winding up "Have Gun, Will Travel" with the 1961-62 batch of shows because he had other acting plans. Now, with a fancy contract involving almost one and one-half million dollars, Boone is set for at least one additional year, maybe two, of Paladin.

Grain Elevator Workers Want Wage Increase

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — More than 500 grain elevator workers here say they will strike at midnight Monday unless agreement is reached on a new contract with 10 grain companies.

The strike would idle an estimated total of 2,500 workers in the world's largest grain milling center at a season of peak grain shipment.

The union, Grain Elevator Employes Local 1286, wants higher pay. Its negotiators have already turned down a management offer of a five-cent hourly wage increase this year and next year.

Elevator workers draw an average of $2.66 an hour for a 40-hour week. The figure the union is seeking was not revealed.

John R. Roberts, president of the local, said Wednesday that the local has been empowered to go on strike when its present three-year contract expires Monday.

Roberts said the companies want to cut the number of men in elevator crews, write in a week's waiting period before the start of sick leave pay, and stop hiring replacements for vacationing workers.

The union struck for 14 days last September in an outgrowth of the Pennsylvania Railroad strike. The issue was the layoff of 13 workers at the Buffalo Terminal Grain Corp., because of the cutoff of rail service.

Whitney Purchases Colt for $80,000

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — C.V. Whitney paid $80,000 for a colt by Hyperion out of Masretta at Saratoga's yearling thoroughbred sale Wednesday for the highest price paid so far at this session.

It also was the highest price brought by a yearling here since 1959 when Leonard P. Sasso paid a like sum for Globemaster in the same salesring.

Runner-up in a fast exchange on advancing bids was trainer Max Hirsch, acting as agent, who went to $78,000 before leaving the field to Whitney.

The Great Wall of China, completed after centuries of labor by millions of workers, stood 20 to 30 feet high, averaged 25 feet thick at its base, and stretched for 1,400 miles—the equivalent of half way across the United States.

Sale of Liquor At City Course Stirs Binghamton

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — City fathers say they are 10 feet on the side of the law in permitting sale of liquor in the clubhouse at Ely Park municipal golf course.

Church and other groups have protested strenuously that the park land was given to the city in 1907 by the late S. Mills Ely—a teetotaler—with a condition that liquor be barred. The deed supports this view.

City engineers say the clubhouse straddles the Ely boundary. The locker room is on "dry" land. The bar-lounge is in wet territory. It is 10 feet inside an area annexed to the original grant.

Tied in a legalistic knot is a decision on whether to police the place to prevent thirsty golfers from carrying highballs from the bar to the locker room.

One Republican candidate for mayor, Richard H. Knauf, says he will padlock thie bar if he is elected.

Will Land Be Used For Recreation Or Industries?

CHICAGO (AP)—Projections of the needs of mid-America's explosive population growth and industrial expansion meet in a head-on collision along a short stretch of Lake Michigan shoreline near Chicago.

The question is who has the best right to the disputed land—thousands of metropolitan area workers seeking recreation or scenic beauty or new industrial plants?

It is this area — the Indiana Dunes — that conservationists, scientists and dune lovers are seeking to turn into a national preserve.

Opposing groups want to have a deep-water harbor built in the dunes. They envision the development of new steel plants in the area to provide thousands of new jobs. They claim the dunes area can accommodate both a harbor and a national park.

A leader of the save the dunes movement is Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill. His efforts in Congress to make the dunes area a national preserve touched off a controversy that divided communities in the area and placed high ranking Democrats in opposing positions.

Douglas wants to preserve what he calls "a natural playground and wildlife area of great beauty."

He contends the area is a natural recreation grounds for the 6½ million people in the Chicago metropolitan area "and also for the generations yet unborn."

The Illinois senator toured the dunes area recently with a delegation from Washington including Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Udall concluded that much of the land is worth preserving in its natural state and added, "I'll do all I can to work out whatever problems stand in the way."

Taxi Driver Killed When Cab Hits Tree

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—State Police said a Syracuse taxi driver apparently on his way back from delivering a fare approximately 25 miles to Oswego was killed Wednesday night when the cab left a dirt road and hit a tree near here.

Troopers said a passerby found cabbie Frank F. Coolidge, 54, of Syracuse. They said Coolidge apparently lost control of the car.

Centerville Vols To Canvass Area

Centerville Fire Company volunteers will make a door-to-door canvass of the fire district Saturday to distribute telephone caps noting the fire call number and fire prevention literature.

The distribution, free of charge, is one of Centerville Fire Company's public service activities.

During the canvass the firemen will take a census of the disabled, invalids and any others unable to care for themselves during a fire emergency. During another call the company will deliver a window or door sticker which when placed on a house will indicate to firemen, in the event of a fire emergency, that a handicapped person is in the building.

Firemen will also check any new sources of water during the canvass.

Fire Chief John C. Paige emphasized that the volunteers calling are not asking for funds and that it is strictly a public service call.

Anyone, however, wishing to contribute to the fire company, may mail their contribution to the company.

The firemen at the Tuesday night meeting decided they would not conduct a finance campaign this year.

Youth Caravan Coming to Immanuel

PATRICIA NICKEL

NICHOLAS CHRISTOFF

CAROLYN LORENZ

A team of three teenagers, the Youth Caravaners, will be the guests of Immanuel Lutheran Church, 22 Livingston Street, this week. The three caravaners are traveling for the Walther League, international youth organization and official youth program of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod.

The caravan team is composed of Miss Patricia Nickel of North Olmstead, Ohio; Miss Carolyn Lorenz of St. Louis, Mo.; and Nicholas Christoff of Chicago, Ill. The team assists local Lutheran congregations with their youth program.

The caravaners will assist the youth in devotional services, topic discussions, service projects, recreational and fellowship session. They will join the local teenagers in reaching the unchurched youth of the community. The five-point program of the Walther League — Worship, Education, Fellowship, Service, and Recreation will be explained to the youth, their parents, counselors and other adults of Immanuel Lutheran Church.

The three young people coming to Kingston represents a cross section of Lutheran teenagers in the United States and Canada. Each of the 17 teams completed a 10-week correspondence course in youth work. Prior to beginning their summer tour, they were briefed in a five-day training session at Concordia Senior College, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Officers of the local Walther League are Allen Carney, president; Charles Fatum, vice president; Sonja Anderson, secretary; Carl Wiegert, treasurer; Martha Nickerson, membership secretary; Fern Bills, Christian growth chairman. Lack Understanding

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The alcoholic who says his wife doesn't understand him is absolutely right, a study has found.

The study showed that only 2 per cent of 262 wives believed their husbands were sick men who needed treatment.

Harold Alkene, associate director of research for the National Council of Alcoholism, said most of them thought their husbands had no one to blame but themselves, and "could cut down if he really wanted to."

Over 1,000 Will Attend Kingston Rotary Barbecue

The huge chicken barbecue staged by the Kingston Rotary Club on Saturday will take place rain or shine.

A large tent, purchased cooperatively with the County Agricultural Society, will be erected at the Beatty Farm today and all serving will take place under the tent. William H. Palmer and Harry J. Beatty, co-chairmen declare that inclement weather should not keep anyone away.

The proceeds of the chicken barbecue are used to defray the cost of various community projects sponsored by the Club such as the Meditation Room at the Kingston Hospital and the sponsorship of one of the American Field Service exchange students.

Palmer reported that indications are that over 1000 persons will be served again at the barbecue this year, but that a few tickets are still available. All of the work of planning, food preparation, cooking, serving and clean-up is done by members of the Rotary Club.

Chemist Suffers Electrical Burns In Plant Mishap

A chemist at Century Cement Manufacturing Co., Inc., Rosendale, who state police said suffered severe burns about the face and arms this morning when an electrical switch box exploded at the plant, was reported in apparently serious condition at Kingston Hospital.

Eric West, 20, of Plainfield Street, Town of Ulster suffered first degree burns on his face and second degree burns on both arms, Senior Investigator Edward Shanfon of Kingston BCI reported.

West told the state police he was working on the switch box at the laboratory at about 6:30 a. m. when it blew up. The box carries 440 volts.

Navy Recruiter Retires; Man Is Assigned to Post

Changes in local Navy recruiting personnel were announced this week.

Chief Petty Officer Frank Keary of Newton, Mass., has been assigned to the local office replacing Petty Officer 1/C George Kirk who resigned after 20 years service.

CPO Keary enlisted in the U.S. Navy in August, 1940 and served in the Pacific theater during World War II, taking part in Solomon Islands campaign and the Battle of Midway. He has six major campaign medals and five good conduct awards.

His last assignment was with Naval Leadership Instructors School at the Amphibian Base, Little Creek, Va., where he served as instructor.

Petty Officer Kirk, a resident of Mt. Tremper, held the rate of fire control technician first class, a job involved with the equipment needed for accurate firing of missiles, gunfire and underwater weapons.

Enlisting in the Navy in 1941, he was assigned to the submarine force at New London, Conn. During World War II he was a crew member of the Submarine Guardfish which distinguished itself in the Pacific theater, receiving two presidential unit citations. Kirk holds among his many decorations nine campaign medals with 13 battle stars.

He and his family plan to remain in Ulster County for a time.

Saugerties Woman Injured in Fall

Mrs. William McCormick of Main Street, Saugerties was reported injured in a fall Tuesday afternoon on a drain cover on the sidewalk in front of the Orpheum Theater on Main Street, Saugerties police said today.

She reported injury to her left knee and hand and was taken to the hospital for X-rays. This mishap occurred at 4:35 p. m.

Hit by Car While Rolling Up Window

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Leopold Suttner, 57, of Glens Falls, died in a hospital early today of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile in Route 9 five miles north of here.

State Police said Suttner was rolling up the rear window of his station wagon in the road when an oncoming car struck him and the vehicle just before midnight Wednesday.

Fulton Methodist Church Destroyed

FULTON, N.Y. (AP)—A $600,000 fire today destroyed the century-old First Methodist Church in this Oswego County community.

The Rev. Alexander Stewart, pastor, said the brick and wood church was a complete loss. His estimate of $600,000 loss would run higher if church furnishings and his personal library were figured in, he said.

Approximately 150 firemen from six communities fought the fire, which also damaged an adjoining Sunday school building. Sparks flew to the nearby Seneca Hotel and a lumber yard.

One fireman was overcome by smoke but did not require hospital treatment.

Oswego County fire headquarters said the cause of the fire was not determined. A nearby resident, Anthony De Massi, sounded the alarm when he saw flames shooting from the roof and upper windows.

Wrong Enemy

HONOLULU (AP) — Leonard Wibberly, Irish author of the political satire "The Mouse That Roared," says the book resulted from the signing of the Japanese-U.S. peace treaty. "The more I read the treaty the more I believed the Japanese never did anything so smart as to go to war against the United States, lose and then be rehabilitated," he says. "Look at the Irish. We Irish have been fighting the wrong people for 800 years."

SHIP FOR SUPPER — Among the novel sights along the waterfront in the northwest Italian resort port of Viareggio is this old brigantine moored at a pier. It's not a set for a movie but the latest in fashionable restaurants on the Ligurian Sea.

Increase in Fares Declared Reasonable

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 10 per cent increase in commuter fares on the Hudson Transit Lines of New York and New Jersey was reasonable and just, John S. Messer, an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing examiner, has ruled.

The increase became effective last Feb. 5 on multiple-trip coupon books in the general area of Bergen County, N.J., and Rockland and Orange ecounties, N.Y., The Orange County Commuters Association had protested the new fare schedule.

The examiner's findings are subject to commission action.

Drum Corps Show At Stadium Is Attended by 3,000

Six top notch drum and bugle corps, representing this area, Massachusetts and New Jersey, staged a spectacular demonstration of precision marching and music-making at Dietz Stadium Wednesday night.

More than 3,000 were at the athletic field to watch the musicians play prior to the softball game between the Kingston Patrolmen's Association and a team from IBM. The game was the highlight of the program, sponsored for the benefit of the association's activities.

Those playing included Troop 12 of Kingston along with the Esopus Indian Scouts, the Continental Cadets of Catskill, the Criterions of Newburgh-Kingston-Poughkeepsie area; the Interstatesmen of Pittsfield, Mass., the Green Sabres of Schuylerville and the famed Garfield Cadets of Garfield, N. J.

The latter named corps was making its initial appearance in the city and it delighted the crowd with several smart marches.

Waistline Suspicious

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Local policemen don't think young men should have bulging waistlines. They arrested a 28-year-old man who was "too young to be that fat" and relieved him of the four dresses he had been carrying around his waist since stealing them from a back yard clothesline.

Begins Disposing Of Stock That Started Proxmire

LAURENCE J. O'CONNOR

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Lawrence J. O'Connor, confirmed as a member of the Federal Power Commission, said Wednesday he has started disposing of stock Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said may represent a conflict of interest.

"Just as I said in the committee hearing, I am disposing of such stock and before Monday I will have disposed of it all," O'Connor said.

"In fact that is the reason I am in Houston."

Proxmire held the Senate floor for over 32 hours in his fight against O'Connor's confirmation. He said it would "really be tragic" to appoint O'Connor to the power commission because of conflict of interest.

O'Connor did not say if he was selling the stock or giving it to his elderly mother, as Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said he was told O'Connor would do.

Got Early Start

BATAVIA, N. Y. (AP)—Retired Grocer Myron E. Betts figures he must have run one of the world's first self-service markets. It was back in 1917 and Betts called it his "basketeria." "We just placed two dozen half-bushel baskets by the front door," he says. "The idea went over big from the start." Betts, now 83, says the idea was to make things easier for his wife, who was running the store. "I had only one customer averse to the idea," he says. "One prominent lady said she'd feel like a thief in the store helping herself. She threatened to take her trade elsewhere unless I waited on her, so I did."

matter of fact

The teacher who presided over the "little red schoolhouse" was often just a jump ahead of his pupils. If you wanted to teach, you got as much education as you could and then you applied for a job. Often all you needed to "qualify" as schoolmaster was ability to spell simple words and write your name clearly.

HIGH SOUND — The concrete bell tower, with its spiraling steps in full view, rises above the new parish church of St. George in Stevenage New Town, England.

NEW PREMIER — Cyrille Adoula, 39, a political moderate, was approved by the parliament in Leopoldville to be premier of strife-torn republic of The Congo.

Kennedy Is . . .

living under the Communist system in Eastern Europe.

Kennedy said this country has not attempted either to encourage or to discourage the refugee flow.

The Soviet premier in a major speech on Monday accused the Western powers of threatening the Soviet Union with armed force, reasserted his intention to sign a separate peace treaty with East Germany and at the same time called for negotiatons to end the crisis peacefully.

Mentions Treaty Again

In welcoming spaceman Gherman Titov to Moscow Wednesday Khrushchev again declared he would sign the separate peace pact as planned. He coupled this with a warning to the world that the Soviet Union could make a super nuclear bomb and deliver it by rocket on target.

U.S. officials said the Soviet premier seems to be doing his utmost to frighten the West into yielding to his Berlin demands and at the same time to confuse the issue by picturing the United States and its NATO allies as potential aggressors against the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk is due back late tonight from a series of meetings with Allied leaders in Europe. He conferred at Paris on Berlin military and diplomatic plans with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany and reported to the 15-nation NATO council there. Then he flew to Italy for talks with Premier Amintore Fanfani and German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. Fanfani has just returned from meetings with Khrushchev in Moscow.

Rusk is expected to report to Kennedy Friday.

Historic Paper

lowed out of the vault," said Dr. Charles F. Gosnell, state librarian. "Yet the people have a right to see it, and when utmost security can be provided, as in this case, we are glad that it can be put on public display."

Bruce Catton, noted historian and chairman of the State Civil War Centennial Commission, and Dr. Albert B. Corey, state historian, concurred in Goshnell's view.

The original draft, dated September 22, 1862, was contributed by Lincoln to the Albany Army Relief Bazaar of Civil Wartimes. It was auctioned off to buy medical supplies for the Union forces, the successful bidder being Gerrit Smith, abolition-minded philanthropist and reformer of Peterboro, N. Y. The auction raised about $1,250.

After it had been in his possession for two years, Smith offered it to the State of New York for $1,000. The State Legislature authorized its purchase for the State Library.

A later draft was given by Lincoln to the Chicago Army Relief Bazaar, but this was destroyed in the Chicago fire disaster of 1871.

The Albany document thereupon became the sole copy in existence drawn up in Lincoln's own hand. Minor notations were added to it by William H. Seward, former governor of New York, who was Lincoln's secretary of state.

Mrs. Maron LaReau of New Windsor, also a teacher, who attended Rider College in Trenton, N.J., and Orange County Community College in Middletown.

Melvyn N. Riley, a 23-year-old Negro who attended Newburgh Free Academy and who was graduated last June from the Elizabeth City, N.C., State Teachers College.

About 40 per cent of those on Newburgh's relief rolls are Negro.

East German . . .

tention to flee. Workers who ignore Communist advice are to be dealt with administratively, which means police action.

West German officials said they may have to open another camp to cope with the stream of refugees.

Nearly 150,000 Germans have fled to the West so far this year—compared with 200,000 for all 1960—and the tide is showing no sign of ebbing.

Once across the line, the refugees are being flown to West Germany.

N. H. RR Bankruptcy Typifies Railroad Ills

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "My aunt gave me 73 shares of Pfizer along with $15,000 in cash. I don't need the money and thought I might use a little of it to buy another 27 shares to round my holdings. I know little about the company. What would you do?" C.K.

A. You are indeed fortunate to have received such a sizeable gift. Chas. Pfizer (NYSE) has had worth-while earnings gains during the last ten years, and indications are that this trend will continue—although probably at a somewhat slower pace.

The company has an aggresive research organization, and the commercial success of its oral polio vaccine, measles vaccine and drug for combating high blood pressure could improve the outlook considerably.

Since we are all becoming more global minded, you will be interested to know that the firm's foreign sales are the largest of any American drug manufacturer. Pfizer shares have acted well this year, moving up close to their all time highs set in 1959.

If gradual appreciation is your aim, I recommend that you go ahead and round out your holdings.

Q. "You rarely mention railroad stocks. Why?" A.H.

A. Perhaps the best way of answering you is by referring to the bankruptcy proceedings recently brought against the New York New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

Sharp competition, restrictive rate policies, and rising costs joined to demolish this company's earning power. Of course, all other rails are not in the same shape as the New Hoven, but similar factors have combined to make it difficult for many in the industry to stay out off the red.

I feel that certain rail stocks, including Union Pacific and Atcheson, Topeka & Santa Fe, are good income holdings, and that the New York Central is interesting as speculation. For the best investment results, though, I would put my money in stocks with a much better outlook, which the rails as yet do not have.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's sideways progress through this week continued early this afternoon as prices alternately weakened, firmed, sagged and climbed.

The result by noon was a decline of 0.40 to 253.60 in The Associated Press 60-stock average. Industrials were down 0.20, rails down 0.30 and utilities down 0.40.

Key issues rose or fell fractions to about a point for the most part.

Brunswick, however, was up nearly 2 points. Revlon also added another 2 points or so to recent gains.

Chrysler and Du Pont both rose around a point, but most blue chip issues moved only fractionally.

Steels maintained an upside edge, as did most motors, rubbers, mail order and retail firms, chemicals and drugs.

Litton spurted more than 2 in an otherwise quiet electronic section. United Aircraft cut an early loss among aircraft-missile stocks, while Boeing and Douglas were narrowly higher.

Montgomery Ward recovered from a poor start and rose nearly a point.

Moving higher were U.S. Steel, Jones & Laughlin, Ford, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Radio Corp., American Telephone, American Smelting, Eastman Kodak, GE and United Air Lines.

Small losses hit Republic Steel, General Motors, Woolworth, General Dynamics, Kennecott, Santa Fe and Lorillard.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange improved after a mixed start.

Cole Is Appointed

Mayor Edwin F. Radel in the report that Cole had filled the post satisfactorily for more than two years.

The board also appointed Jules Albertini, of 81 Lucas Avenue, to the post of chief sewer plant operator. He has also been holding that job provisionally and scored 88.8 on a recent civil service test. The appointment becomes effective Aug. 14.

Three bids ranging from $6,990 to $10,000 per year for a garbage collection contract covering the Wilbur sector and other downtown areas, were received and forwarded for tabulation by a committee. The bids resulted of discontinuance of Andy Buzzanco, of 217 Abeel Street, as contractor for the route. Bids were submitted by Edward Elliott, Town of Ulster; William DeCicco, of Lincoln Street, and Byron Gerlach, Town of Ulster. A contract is due to be awarded before Aug. 15.

'Man of Peace'

a peace treaty with East Germany that would give that Communist regime control over Western access to Berlin.

"We believe there will be no war after this (treaty)," he said. "Only lunatics think of a war after a peace treaty. . . . We are not threatening anybody but if anyone attacks us we will consider it an act of suicide. We will destroy him by counterblows. We have spent money on rockets and bombs and they are not for cutting sausages."

He charged the West with making threatening moves against the Soviet Union and said, "Fools, what do you think you are doing?"

Hogs Are Air-Cooled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An increasing number of farmers are taking steps to keep their hogs cool in summer, the Ohio State University extension service says.

By keeping hogs relatively confined, farm specialists say, they gain weight more efficiently and under more sanitary conditions. But they also can't cool off under a tree or in a mudhole.

So, the university's researchers say, farmers are using overhead pipes with fog spray nozzles, shades over feed-watering-rest areas, ventilation systems, insulation and paved areas to protect hogs in hot weather.

Modern astronomers believe stars may be of widely different ages. Some are subject to catastrophic explosions that produce novae and supernovae.

Newspaper Advertising Scores More Sales than Other Media

The nation's local advertisers invested $2.7 billion in newspapers last year. That's six times as much as they spent in radio, nine times as much as in TV, three times as much in newspapers as in all other major media combined!

Herman C. Nolen, president of McKesson & Robbins, Inc., puts it this way: "We at McKesson feel that if you place an advertisement in a newspaper the result is—something happens. You get action."

If you want action, if you want results — use the daily newspaper.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If you need any example of what happens when a totalitarian government takes over a country, Cuban Prime Minister Castro is up today with a fresh one.

A totalitarian government may be Fascist, Communist or what Castro calls Cuba's own brand of socialism. The one thing in common is that the state is dominant, not its citizens.

Firms Suffer Losses

First, large private property holdings are confiscated in one form or another, with or without vague promises of compensation later. American firms suffered the loss of millions of dollars in assets and sales this way. One estimate is that American-owned property on the island was worth $861 million.

Next, cash holdings are gathered in by the simple device of declaring the old currency void and issuing a new currency—but only up to a small part of the total that any person above the lowest income brackets might have. The government keeps all but a minimum of the amount turned in.

Some Invested Pesos

How much of a loss this will be to Americans is unknown. Most U.S. corporations and individuals presumably have put their pesos into other currencies or investments long since.

But doubtless many Cuban refugees here will suffer. Cuban leaders estimate that 400 million of the old pesos are held outside the island, and thus became worthless over the weekend. Castro says most of this was taken to the United States by refugees.

The Cuban moves are in the classic pattern. They enable the Castro regime to get its hands on the property and cash of all but the poorest citizens.

Black Market Prices

They also help to halt, at least temporarily, the impending inflation caused by a growing shortage of some goods and foodstuffs on the island, which could command high prices on the black market—if people had pesos with which to buy.

The peso officially has been carried as the equal of the Yankee dollar, and formerly was freely exchangeable on that basis. But of late one foreign exchange dealer in New York has been willing to pay only 16 American cents for one Cuban peso. It says it has kept the peso on its list only because it wants to maintain its record of dealing in all foreign currencies.

Cuban Trade Dwindles

Trade with Cuba has dwindled to a trickle. The United States cut off imports of Cuban sugar. We now import only tobacco, fruit and sugar molasses. And we send Cuba only food, medicine and medical supplies.

The Cuban government has an estimated $3 million here in various assets. Individual Cubans, most of them refugees now, are said to have about $58 million. But these are valued in Yankee dollars and not subject to the Cuban peso confiscation.

Defense Aims Triggers Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Here is an excellent example of how declarer should plan his play in accordance with the tactics adopted by the defense.

If West opens the queen of Clubs and the suit is continued South can make five odd. He ruffs the second club, cashes the ace of spades, ruffs a spade, returns to his hand with the ace of diamonds, ruffs another spade, cashes dummy's king of diamonds, ruffs another club, ruffs his fourth spade, ruffs dummy's last club, ruffs his own last spade and eventually makes his ace of trumps.

A cautious player will content himself with 10 tricks. He won't try to cash dummy's king of diamonds.

West should open a trump. He has massed spades in back of declarer and should anticipate that cross-ruff.

Against the trump opening South must adopt an entirely different line of play and try to set up his fifth spade.

The correct line of play is to win the lead in his own hand, cash the ace of spades, ruff a spade, return to his hand with the ace of diamonds, ruff a third spade, draw trumps, lead a fourth spade and eventually lose one trick in each suit, except trumps.

GIRLS AND BOYS GOING STEADY

Q: Do you approve of young girls and boys "going steady"? It seems to have become a widespread custom. I personally do not approve of my 16-year-old daughter devoting her time to one boy alone and seeing no others. I think it is very hampering to her social life. I am sure there are many mothers with this same problem who would appreciate your opinion on this subject.

A: In my opinion, to let one boy monopolize a girl's time to such an extent that she sees no others is an unfortunate practice and by doing so she is limiting the development of her social personality. Only by meeting many other young people of varied backgrounds and interests can a girl or a boy broaden her or his own experience and gain enough insight to be capable of making a good choice of a lifetime partner when the time comes.

Selecting First Child's Godparents

Q: It is true that the maid of honor and best man at our wedding must be asked to be the godparents of our first child which I am expecting soon. I have been told this is customary and that they will feel slighted if not asked. I had intended to ask a cousin of mine to be the baby's godmother.

A: While the maid of honor and best man are often asked to be the first child's godparents, it is certainly not obligatory, and you may select the persons you think will be most interested in the child and who will be best able to see to its religious education in the event of your own death.

When Employer Introduces His Secretary

Q: Occasionally my boss will introduce me to a business acquaintance who comes into the office. Should I shake hands upon being introduced or do I just say "How do you do, Mr. Smith?"

A: You simply say "How do you do, Mr. Smith?" with a smile. You, of course, should be ready to shake hands if he starts to extend his.

Man on the Farm

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — It takes an uncommon man to farm these days in the opinion of a midwestern farm editor.

Rod Turnbull, farm editor of the Kansas City Star, spoke here recently listing capital, skill and common sense as needs for the modern-day farmer.

"In fact, it takes the uncommon man — the better man than usual," he said. "Evidence is real that despite what you hear, some farms make money, good money."

Citing records of the 240 farmers in the Northeast Kansas Farm Management Association, Turnbull said the top 60 farmers in that group have been making as much the last few years as in the boom-time war period. But the lower 60, he said, are going in the hole every year.

Fitzgerald-Krayem Wedding Is Announced; Exchange Vows at Presentation Church

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE E. KRAYEM
(Photo Workshop)

Miss Joanne Mary Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fitzgerald of 211 Sackett Street, Port Ewen, wed George Edward Krayem, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Krayem and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Salim Krayem of Kingston, on August 5 at 1 p. m.

The double ring ceremony took place in the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen. Officiating was the Rev. Joseph P. Kelley, CSsR. Mrs. Veronica Corcoran was organist and Richard Scherer was soloist.

White African daisies and gladioli decorated the church for the occasion. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full length gown of nylon tulle and French lace. The bodice was styled with a scalloped square neckline and three quarter quarter length sleeves. The skirt also featured lace panels in redingote effect. A queen's crown of sequins and pearls held a silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations and white daisies.

The bride's sister, Linda Marie Fitzgerald of Port Ewen, served as bridesmaid in a pale pink ballerina length gown. Her skirt was accordion pleated and a coral cummerbund highlighted the waistline. A bride's crown of sequins held a short circular veil. She carried a nosegay of white daisies and pink carnations.

Mother of the bride wore a champagne chiffon dress with light brown accessories and a corsage of Nile green Odonothogoliums. The bridegroom's grandmother wore a tan Georgette dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

John Janakis of Cobleskill was best man for his cousin. Ushers were James Doyle of Port Ewen and Frank Longto, also of Port Ewen.

Approximately 100 guests were entertained at a reception given at the Tropical Inn in Port Ewen.

The bride was graduated from Academy of St. Ursula and attended Dutchess Community College in Poughkeepsie. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and attended Manhattan College, New York City. He was graduated from Dutchess Community College and is now attending State University College of Education at New Paltz.

For her wedding trip to New Hampshire the bride wore a navy blue linen sheath with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Krayem will reside at 58 St. James Street, Kingston.

We The Women

Don't Fear, Look Forward To Those Middle Years

"I think I'll skip my next birthday. It's the fatal one. I'll be "40," I recently heard a woman say.

She meant it, too.

She was dreading the birthday women associate with middle age—the birthday that makes them face up to the fact that they have left the young years behind them and are beginning the middle years.

But why should any American woman today dread being middle-aged? With a little bit of luck, middle age can be the happiest time of a woman's life.

By the time she is middle-aged, a woman's hardest years are over, the years when her husband is struggling to get a start, when money is scarce, when small children demand most of her time and attention, when she is growing up to her responsibilities as a wife, mother and member of a community.

By the time she is middle-aged, a woman has her children well on the way to independence. She has established a way of living that suits her family. She has made a place for herself in her world.

Having put her family first for years, she can begin to think in terms of what she wants out of life — and set about getting it.

A woman should have learned by middle age what things are important and what things aren't worth worrying about. She should have passed enough tests to feel confidence in herself.

By the time a husband and wife have reached middle age they should have a sound and solid marriage together and the firm belief that they can depend on each other.

So what is there for a woman to dread in middle age if the young years have not been wasted or misused? For a woman, if the 30s were good there is no reason to fear the 40s.

Dirksen said he thinks there is sufficient law on the books to punish hijackers, even without enactment of a bill the Senate considers today to provide up to life imprisonment for air priacy.

Different Outlook

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the release of the plane and passengers "puts a different outlook" on a whole crop of senatorial demands for President Kennedy to tell Castro to release seized U.S. planes or expect American forces to go in and get them.

Mansfield said it will be up to Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to decide whether he wants to push for an amendment he offered to the panalties bill Wednesday. The amendment would ask President Kennedy to give Castro 48 hours to return the Pan American jet and an Eastern Air Lines plane held in Havana since July 24 before taking "such action as is necessary" to get them back.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee was ready with an amendment to provide the death penalty for the armed hijacking of a plane. But Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., questioned the wisdom of this.

Might Destroy Plane

He said if a hijacker faced a mandatory death penalty he might destroy a plane and all the passengers aboard if he believed himself in danger of being caught.

In the House, a commerce subcommittee Wednesday reached tentative agreement on a bill providing penalties up to death for aircraft hijacking.

The subcommittee ordered a fresh draft made of the bill and will return to work on it. Further changes are possible although the lawmakers agreed in principle on:

1. Penalties from 20 years imprisonment to death for hijacking in which a deadly weapon is used.

2. Lesser penalties, up to $10,000 fine and 20 years imprisonment, for assaults on crew members or passengers.

3. A definition of "air piracy" as a new crime to take care of doubts that the traditional concepts of piracy at sea could be carried over to crimes aboard aircraft.

KPA Is Host to 60 Youngsters at NYC

Some 60 members of the Little League and Babe Ruth baseball circuit were guests of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association on a bus trip to New York today to see this afternoon's game between the New York Yankees and the Los Angles Angels.

Several members of the KPA team which clipped IBM 6-3 at Dietz Stadium Wednesday night, along with Officer Meyer Levy, KPA president, and Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, made the trip which began at city hall this morning.

Self-Invited Guests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Guides at the Ohio Capitol receive some unusual requests, but one of the most out-of-the-ordinary was in 1911. A young couple, accompanied by families and friends, asked permission to be married in the central rotunda.

Officials checked the Ohio Constitution and other codes and, finding nothing prohibiting such a ceremony, permitted the wedding to take place. As the wedding began, a 50-year-old newspaper account relates, "the word spread like wildfire and (state) offices were emptied, especially of young ladies of eligible age."

Van Buren Street Fire Today Blamed On Match Playing

A fire, said to have been caused by children playing with matches, damaged clothing in a paper carton and a section of flooring in the home of Frank Rockwell , 39 VanBuren Street this morning.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, and the Wicks Company answered a call at 9:16 a. m. with Chief James M. Brett and Deputy Chief Edwin P. Murphy in charge. The blaze was checked with a booster line. The fire was on the first floor of a two-story brick building owned by James Adamo, of 215 Foxhall Avenue.

A call at 10:25 p. m., Wednesday was to check a blaze caused by a short circuit in the car of Raymond E. Craft, of 22 Washington Avenue, near 23 Pearl Street. Wiring and engine areas were reported damaged. Wiltwyck Station responded.

Local Firemen Learn Cardiac Massage Method

Local firemen, through the Kingston Paid Fire Fighters Benevolent Association, today revealed that they have learned the fundamentals of the cardiac massage, which drew attention recently through interest indicated by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

The mayor, who had been told of an interesting experience in Newark, N. J., where a store keeper was said to have shown amazing response to such massaging, is seeking information as to procedure.

In view of this interest, Fireman Philip Greer, of the public relations committee of the firemen's group, notes that 10 members of the paid fire department, on off-duty time, completed basic and advanced Red Cross first aid courses in early May, and soon are to be given opportunity to take the instructors' course.

In the courses, it was noted, the firemen learned the fundamentals of the closed chest cardiac massage as developed by Johns Hopkins Hospital. This part of the course was not officially approved by the Red Cross at the time.

Two Schenectady Golfers Victors

TROY, N. Y. (AP)—Peter Famiano of Schenectady won the State Golf Association's junior championship today while fellow townsman Ronnie Philo captured the boys' crown.

Famiano, a 17-year-old, tournament-tested veteran who plans a career in golf, defeated Christopher Siegler, 15, of Elmsford, 2 up, in their 18-hole final-round match at the Troy Country Club.

Philo triumphed over Bob Duval, also of Schenectady, 2 and 1, in the final for boys under 15. Both are 14.

The Difference

Coast redwoods (sequoia sempervirens) are generally taller but not as bulky as their mountain growing relatives, the big trees (sequoia gigantea).

September Draft Quota Is 25,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The draft quota for September was set today at 25,000 men, biggest since the end of the Korean War.

The Defense Department announcement for the September call reflected the first full-scale manpower impact of the military buildup, although a smaller increase had been made in the August call through revision of the initially announced quota.

As usual all draftees for September will be for the Army, now getting ready to build up three training divisions into combat units.

The announcement said, "The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to place calls with Selective Service during September."

The September call is the largest since June 1953 when the quota was 32,000.

It will bring the total of men who have been drafted since September 1950, immediately after the outbreak of the Korean War to 2,640,950.

The Pentagon said the September quota is calculated against the expected imput of manpower from volunteer and re-enlistment sources.

Plan New $500,000 Albany Bus Depot; To Widen Streets

Plans for a new $500,000 bus terminal building with adjacent off-Broadway loading facilities in Albany in 1962, were announced today by officials of Adirondack Trailways.

The bus company has signed a contract to buy and demolish three buildings at 356, 360 and 366 Broadway, Albany, owned by H. M. Sager Inc., real estate holding firm for Sager-Spuck Supply Company, 438 South Pearl Street, Albany.

Officials of the bus firm noted that plans for the terminal building depend on Albany's plans for widening Division Street from Broadway to Dallius Street. The City Council has authorized $85,000 for that project.

The Albany city street widening plans provide for removal of two buildings at 354 Broadway.

Three buildings to be demolished now house the Allied Refrigeration Co. and Green's Office Outfitters, which maintains warehouse showrooms.

The three structures have 100-foot frontage along Broadway, adjacent to Meginniss Electric Corp., 370 Broadway, Albany.

John J. VanGonsic Jr., of Kingston, vice president of the bus firm, said today further details of the project will be released in a week or 10 days.

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Northwest Ohio isn't exactly the Wild West, but it has produced a champion cowboy.

Dale Wilkinson, 35, trains horses at his stables, and specializes in quarter horses. These are basically trained to select a single cow from a herd, cut him from the rest and drive him to another spot.

Wilkinson, who was raised on an Ohio farm, has won several state and national horsemanship honors.

matter of Fact

Plains Indians looked to the sun for supernatural powers. In early summer, Indians held a "sun dance" around a forked pole. Hour after hour the fasting Indians danced, staring at the sun—until at last the exalted dancers saw visions. The sun dance, still held in early summer, is now part of some local July 4th festivities in the west.

Phoenicia Offers Comedy-Thriller

Murderers, thieves, blackmailers, and ghosts have taken over the stage of the Phoenicia Playhouse in this week's production of George M. Cohan's mystery-farce called SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE scheduled to play through August 13.

SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE tells an alternately thrilling and comic story of a writer seeking solitude in a shuttered snowbound summer hotel, the Baldpate Inn, where he hopes to win a $5000 bet by writing a novel in 24 hours. Under the impression that he has the only key to the isolated inn, he soon discovers that he would have had more peace and quiet if he had chosen Grand Central Station for a study. Before the terrifying night is over, it develops that there are six other keys to Baldpate and that their owners range from crooks and thieves to a man-hating hermit and a beautiful girl reporter looking for a "scoop."

George Morfogen is doing an excellent job as the harried writer, Magee, and Joanna Miles is seen as Mary, the lovely reporter who gets more of a story than she bargained for, in this play. Lou Max, the trigger-happy ex-convict who drops into Baldpate for an unsociable evening is Carolos Bustamante.

Anthony Zerbe portrays the part of the ghostly hermit, and James Tolkan has the role of the grafting mayor. Rounding out the usual fine cast at Phoenicia are Bokara Legendre, Samuel Wortzel, Maurice Schaded, Barbara Krauthamer and Dora Landey as a blackmailing adventuress, the feminine conspirator who stops a bullet at Baldpate.

Applause for Michael Lindsay-Hogg, the director.

Written by the beloved "Yankee Doodle Dandy," George M. Cohan's SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE is perhaps the most popular of his many outstanding hits in the American theatre, having had three highly successful Broadway runs and having become a favorite of theatregoers the country over.

Tom Ewell to Play Special Matinee

TOM EWELL

The famous star of Broadway's "The Seven Year Itch," "The Tunnel of Love," numerous movies and of his own recent TV series, Tom Ewell will make an appearance at the Hyde Park Playhouse on Friday, Aug. 18, at 2 p. m. in his new one-man show, "We've Had Some Fun!" Prior to his tour of the United States this coming Fall and Winter, the comedian with the lovable grin is playing a few specially selected summer stock houses during the latter part of August. M. David Samples, executive director, was foresighted enough to arrange this most unusual attraction for local theatregoers.

Ewell's show is different from other recent one-man shows in that it is funny from beginning to end and only funny. His material is drawn from the great American humorists of the past 50 years and it turns out that America has indeed been rich in funny writers. A partial list of the authors whose works will be offered includes George Ade, James Thurber, Marc Connelly, Ring Lardner, Ogden Nash, Phyllis McGinley, Stephen Leacock, Finley Peter Dunne (Mr. Dooley), Milt Gross, Josh Billings, Corey Ford and Kin Hubbard. Mr. Ewell will vary his program between characterizing in the manner of the original humorist, acting purely as himself and portraying several characters. His only desire is to make people laugh and the Hyde Playhouse expects the sound of laughter to be heard for miles around on the afternoon of his appearance.

Woodstock Schedules Folk Concert

JACK ELLIOTT

Edgar Rosenblum, producer at Woodstock Playhouse, has announced that the globe trotting comedian-singer of folk songs, Jack Elliott, will give a midnight concert Saturday, Aug. 12, at Polari Gallery located on the grounds of the Playhouse.

Elliott is known as a first-class guitar picker. His strong north Texas-cum-Oklahoma accent reeks of trail dust and saddle leather. He has a fine sense of humor and an approach to life worthy of Mark Twain, Josh Billings and any other old-time Western philosopher.

Jack Elliott has just completed a triumphant tour of England.

8 Are Injured In Two-Car Crash At Cairo By-Pass

Eight persons were injured at 10:40 p. m. Wednesday when the cars in which they were riding collided at the intersection of Routes 23 and 145 at the Cairo by-pass. The injured were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill.

Ruth Ullrich received lacerations of the right elbow. Weber was treated for lacerations of the scalp.

Passengers in the Ullrich car who were injured were Gladys Morehouse, 41 of Athens, lacerations of forehead and left arm; Barbara Morehouse, 11, injury of the pelvis; Susan Ullrich, 5, abrasions of the right leg and Barbara Ullrich, 9, abrasions of the forehead.

Like Mom, Like Daughter

PRESENTS TORAH SCROLL — Studying the scroll of the Torah to be dedicated at Congregation Agudas Achim Sunday, Aug. 27, are (l-r) Mrs. Sarah Gellman who donated the scroll; Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport; Morris Miller, past president of the congregation; Manuel Lipton, president and Cantor Herman Slomovits. Mrs. Gellman gave the scroll in memory of her husband, Morris Gellman. Ceremonies will take place at the Synagogue, 24 West Union Street, at 3 p. m. on Aug. 27. (Freeman photo)

Ancient Ritual Will Be Used in Torah Dedication

A rare and unique ceremony will be held at Congregation Agudas Achim 3 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 27, when a Scroll of the Torah will be completed and dedicated.

The scroll was donated to the synagogue by Mrs. Sarah Gellman in memory of her husband, Morris Gellman.

The entire scroll, consisting of the five Books of Moses was hand written in Israel by a scribe who dedicates his life to the writing of Torahs. It takes approximately a year to complete the writing of a Scroll, even the slightest error invalidates the scroll. Even the parchment must be especially tanned for this purpose and must come from a kosher animal.

The sections of parchments, which are called "Yerios" are stitched together with animal veins which also come from kosher animals and are stretched and dried specifically for this purpose. These are called "Gidim."

A religious procession with the Torah takes place to bring it into the Synagogue where a formal acceptance is made, it is then opened up and a scribe who is especially trained for this purpose examines the Scroll. The first and last paragraphs are then completed and the honor of aiding the scribe in its completion is given to those present. The scroll is then dedicated and with song and prayer placed into the Holy Ark to stand side by side with the other Torah.

The members and friends of the congregation may attend the ceremony.

The embroidery business prospered requiring a 2,100-square-foot addition, which Hergatt now is engaged in erecting. The couple has two married children.

Kingston Patrolmen Overpower I.B.M. Softballers, 6 to 3

New Computer Fails to Aid Losing Side

That new IBM computer, labeled the Playmaker, is no longer around. Manager Al Majewski took the machine apart piece by piece about the fourth inning of last night's softball game between the Kingston Police Dept. club and a team representing IBM.

The reason why is obvious. The patrolmen won a 6-3 decision despite the fact they were competing against a computer, which was designed to prove that the umpire is blind and also to assist the manager in running his club.

The computer looked like a minature version of the Bill Veeck scoreboard in Comiskey Park. There were flashing blue, yellow and white lights and a small chimney on top of the roof was smoking the better part of the game.

There were several cards which appeared for the more than 3,000 fans to see during the game. Such quotes as "dirty ones," and "we wuz robbed" could be seen. Despite all that and with balloons coming out of the contraption every few minutes, the policemen still managed to come out on top. They not only had a better team but there was a Crespino (John) playing and another Crespino (Tony) umpiring. What a combination that turned out to be.

Bill "Jello-Arm" Sinsabaugh started for IBM and he lived up to his name. The power packed police lineup got to him for three runs and four hits in the first inning. He staggered off the mound and turned the pitching duties over to Bob Lasher, a jump pitcher. He did somewhat better, being touched for only three runs in the same number of innings.

While his mates were pounding out 10 hits and stealing (that's right, the cops stole), five bases, Tom Carpino had little difficulty beating the white collar workers. He threw a variety of stuff which confused the batters and the plate umpire.

By popular agreement (popular with both the players and the fans), the game was halted after the top of the fifth to allow the IBM performers to get home and be rubbed down prior to reporting for work.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel started the proceedings on the right foot by throwing a strike to City Judge Aaron E. Klein prior to the contest. Both were attired in yellow caps. Following the Mayor's toss Sinsabaugh took the mound and he didn't look as fast as His Honor did.

Seixas Drills Help Mike Green

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Mike Green, the onetime Davis Cup candidate, now is semi-retired from tennis competition. But he's doing the next best thing—practicing regularly with former Davis Cup warhorse Vic Seixas.

"I'm living in Philadelphia now," said Green, a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania. "I've only played two tournaments before this but practicing with Vic has kept me sharp."

Green was sharp enough Wednesday to eliminate third-seeded Jack Douglas, the Marine corporal from Santa Monica, Calif., 6-1, 6-3, and advance to the quarter-finals of the Eastern Grass Court Championships against Frank Froehling.

The 19-year-old Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., also scored an upset, 6-8, 6-2, 6- 3 over seventh-seeded Whitney Reed, the veteran campaigner from Alameda, Calif. in the other upper-half quarter-final.

Mike Boyle and his Anchorage teammates roared to their 15th win in 20 City Softball league starts with a 13-5 triumph over Nadler's last night.

In other softball action, Lincoln Park stopped Bloomington Inn, 4-1, and Subway walloped Red Hook, 8-1.

Boyle fell behind in the first two innings and it was a 5-3 squeaker with Nadler's in front starting the fourth. The winners tallied four runs in the fourth and four more in the fifth to win going away.

Roy Casella, Rod Whittaker, Jay Bertha, Cliff Schwark, Stan Tentnowski, John Hawaka and Bob Jennings all doubled during the tilt and Jennings also slammed a home run.

Boyle walked four and fanned a pair while loser W. C. Lindsey walked eight and struck out two.

Lincoln Park had to go until the eighth frame before breaking a 1-1 deadlock with three runs to stop Bloomington. Al Milak was the winner over Don Lewis.

The winners had only two safeties while Bloomington Inn scored a total of three hits.

Subway was never headed in handing Red Hook a defeat. Ron Cole, Richie Cea, Ron Slover, Don Conn and Glenn Kilgour had doubles during the engagement. Vince Peck won with six walks and a strikeout while allowing six safeties.

Springfield Moves Closer to Pennant

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Springfield Giants have moved a notch closer to the Eastern League pennant and again dimmed the sinking hopes of the Williamsport Grays in overtaking them.

The Giants beat the Grays Wednesday night, 4-3, for the fourth straight time and extended their own winning streak to six—their longest this year.

The slumping Grays fell into third place, 10 games off the pace, while Binghamton, which beat Lancaster, 6-4, moved into second 9½ games behind. Johnstown beat Reading 6- 2 in the only other game.

Drysdale Drubs Milwaukee Tiger Rally Routs Chisox

Score 5 Runs In Eighth for 8 to 2 Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit turned a close game into a rout with a five-run ninth that beat the Chicago White Sox 8-2 Wednesday night and kept the Tigers within three games of first place New York in the American League. The Yankees won their seventh in a row by beating the Los Angeles Angels 2-0 on the four-hit pitching of Jim Coates.

Kansas City dropped third-place Baltimore 12½ games behind New York by beating the Orioles 2-1. Cleveland defeated Washington by 3-1 on Gary Bell's three-hitter, and Boston beat Minnesota 5-4.

Right-hander Frank Lary (16-6) pitched his 15th complete game, tops in the majors, for the Tigers, allowing just five hits. Rocky Colavito's 21st home run gave Detroit a 2-1 lead in the third inning, but Jim Landis then tied it in the fourth with his 16th home run. That's the way it stood until the eighth, when Al Kaline got to Cal McLis (7-11) for a homer.

Mick Breags Spell

The Tigers got their five in the ninth on six walks and a pair of two-run singles.

Ted Bowsfield (8-4) of the Angels held the Yankees hitless until Mickey Mantle led off the fifth inning with a single. The Mick came around on a single by Elston Howard and a sacrifice fly by Bill Skowron

A single by Jim Rivera and Leo Posada's double gave the A's the winning run in the seventh inning at Baltimore against Jack Fisher (5-11). Jerry Walker (5-8) checked his former mates on four singles.

Bell (8-11) walked two and struck out eight while giving up a pair of singles and a first-inning home run by rookie Bud Zipfel. The Indians came from behind in the fourth, beating John Gabler (3-4) on Johnny Romano's two-run single.

Mike Fornieles saved it for the Red Sox, retiring Jose Valdivielso, Bill Tuttle and Ted Lepcio on five pitches in the ninth. Gene Conley (6-10) won it. Jack Kralick (10-8) was the loser.

Hurls 4-Hitter, Hits Grand Slam And Whiffs 11

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers retained their one-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League by beating the Milwaukee Braves 8-3 Wednesday night as right-hander Don Drysdale hit a grand slam homer, allowed only four hits and struck out 11.

The Reds, after losing four of their last five, got back on the beam again against Philadelphia, 5-0, for a 16-0 record against the Phils. That's one shy of the NL record for consecutive victories against one club in one season, set by Pittsburgh against the Reds in 1936.

San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5, on Matty Alou's ninth-inning homer, and St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 4-0, on a grand slam by Julio Javier.

Adcock Hits Two

Drysdale (10-6) had trouble only from Joe Adcock, who drove in all of the Braves' runs with a pair of homers. The first tied it 1-all in the second inning, but Drysdale then broke it up with his bases-loaded shot-the 18th home run of his career and fourth of the year—off Don Nottebart (3-6). It was the first slam by a Dodger pitcher since Erv Palica connected for one back in 1950.

Right-hander Joey Jay (15-7), the NL's top winner, blanked the last place Phils on six hits for Philadelphia's 13th consecutive defeat, one short of the club record. Elio Chacon walked and scored the Reds' first run in the second inning off Don Ferrarese (2-9), and then belted his first major league homer in the fifth.

The Cards had been blanked on four hits by southpaw Joe Gibbon (8-7) for seven innings before Javier teed off for his first major league slam. The Bucs, who walloped St. Louis 19-0 in their last meeting, were shut out on seven hits by winner Curt Simmons (7-7) and Ed Bauta.

Alou was 3-for-5 and drove in two runs for the Giants, breaking a 5-5 tie with his home run off losing reliever Barney Schultz (5-3). Stu Miller (9-3) won it in relief.

Petersen Blasts 689

Larry Petersen set two seasonal records with 276 and 689 in the Ferraro Summer League last night. His games were 224, 189 and 276.

The 276 eclipsed Bob Townsend's 264 and the 689 raised Petersen's own 678. A 5-7 split in the middle game and a 9-pin tap in the third deprived him of a shot at a 700 series. He fired 8 strikes in a row in the finale.

Rose Schatzel led the distaff department with 522. Lorraine Ferraro fired 208-513, Bill Schabot 201, Ernie Dousharm 206, Bruce Hinkley 213, Ray Petersen 200, Herb Petersen 203, Ed Ashdown 203, Jim De Cicco 207, Jerry Shafer 203.

September The Test

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone it seems, from former President Herbert Hoover down, is excited about the possibility of Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris of the New York Yankees breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in 1927.

Neither got a homer Wednesday as the Yankees beat Los Angeles 2-0 for their seventh straight, but Mantle, with 43, and Maris, with 41, both are ahead of the Babe's record pace 24 years ago. Many think Mantle has the better chance of erasing the Babe's mark, but will he?

Only five years ago Mantle seemed to be in equally good position to become the major league's new home run king. He had 42 homers after the Yankees' 112th game on Aug. 14. At the end of August he still was ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace with 47 homers. But in September he added only five and finished with 52.

Once again Mantle is face to face with the task of beating the Babe's 17-homer September production that, over the years, has balked such other famed sluggers as Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg, Lou Gehrig, Hack Wilson, Ralph Kiner and Willie Mays.

Rhinebeck Speedway Slates Washburn Memorial Saturday

Saturday night will mark the running of the seventh annual Washburn Memorial Stock Car Race at the Rhinebeck Speedway. The two hundred fifty lap classic, an annual event has been named in the memory of the late Charles "Duke" Washburn of Hyde Park, an active stock car driver and former officer of Mutual Racing Associates who died while hunting in the Fall of 1954.

The Washburn Memorial Classic is the only one of its' type in the East as it deals strictly with the Non-Ford type stock car and pays more than any other Non-Ford type race. Prize money for Saturday night is seven hundred fifty dollars to the winner plus one dollar per lap each car leads the race, therefore total prize money to the winner could be one thousand dollars.

Saturdays' race will be preceded by time trials held the same evening to determine the starting positions of the cars. The sedans will hold two races prior to the program giving their best to lend excitement to the program. Before the racing program for the evening starts the Saugerties Drum Corps will give an exhibition of marching, baton twirling, and musical selections for the entertainment of all present.

Tripp Has the Pole

The first four qualifying positions for the big race have already been determined in qualifying races held prior to the racing date and they are listed in order. First or "pole" position is held by Barry Tripp of Red Hook, driving a Hudson Hornet powered car. Second position alongside Tripp will go to Carl Fink of Troy, in another Hudson Hornet powered car. Third position goes to Russ Truelove of Waterbury, Conn. in a G.M.C. powered car while fourth, the last of the assured qualifying positions goes to veteran driver Glenn "Hoppy" Jensen of Bristol, Conn. in a G.M.C. powered car. Spada 3-0 as Hurler

Braves' Hal Lewis Is Among Top 10 Hitters in the NY-NJ

Day after day and year after year, Hal Lewis has been one of the Kingston Braves' steadiest performers.

This becomes more obvious as the Braves prepare to close out the regular 1961 NY-NJ Baseball League season Saturday night against the West Haverstraw Lumbermen at Dietz Stadium.

The Braves have a special mission Saturday. They have to win if they hope to split the season's series (4 games) with the Rockland County aggregation. They have the Western Division pennant wrapped up and will wait until the Eastern Division race is resolved for the 1961 championship series.

Getting back to Lewis, the aging Connecticut Negro ace, the latest NY-NJ statistics released by league statistician Ted Kilburn indicate he has climbed into the Big Ten—No. 8 to be exact, with a .327 average.

Once a fleet-footed outfielder, Lewis has slowed down by a step but is capable of a first rate job either in the outfield or at second base. He is one of the real "pros" on the Kingston team.

Spada in Top Five

Another Brave, pitcher Mike Spada, has moved into the select circle with a 3-0 record, same as teammate Bob Maines. Tom Acker, the ex-Cincinnati Redleg, has an 8-0 record with the Poughkeepsie team.

Spada has pitched 24 innings, yielding 17 hits, 9 runs (6 earned) with 12 walks and 27 strikeouts, better than one an inning.

Howie Mann of Poughkeepsie (.400) has replaced Charlie Pike of Kingston (.375) as the batting leader. Roger Callahan of Poughkeepsie has moved into second place with .379.

Other leaders include: Cal Platt, Spring Valley .359; Tony Scorese, West Haverstraw, .348; Tom Forman, Beacon .342; Bob McKenna, Poughkeepsie, .333; Hal Lewis, Kingston, .327; Jack Lashlee, Beacon, .326; Dave Centi, Poughkeepsie, .325.

Yankees, Giants In 6-6 Deadlock

Richard Parks staggered the Woodstock Yankees with a grand slam home run in the fifth frame but the league leaders responded with three markers in the sixth to tie the Giants, 6-6. The contest was halted by darkness after the regulation six innings.

Stanley Longyear and Varick Graver saw pitching service for the Yankees while Jim Weinsheimer and Richard Parks divided the chores for the Giants.

Graver was credited with a pair of doubles while Longyear and Weinsheimer had one each in the free hitting tilt. Robert Gehman, Weinsheimer and Chris Gehman had two hits each for the Giants while Graver and Longyear rapped three apiece for the Yankees.

The line score:

		R	H
Yankees	001 203—6	10

Stanley Longyear, Varick Graver and Pete Glass; Richard Parks and Jim Weinsheimer.

The line score:

Curlin was the winner over Gary Nickerson.

Bye Bye Byrd Retires to Stud

CHICAGO (AP) — Six-year-old Bye Bye Bird, whose earnings of $554,257 since 1957 are an all time high for harness racing, has been retired to stud.

"The horse has accomplished everything possible," said his owner, Chicago industrialist R.C. Larkin. "He has established himself as the sport's money-winning champion and I can see nothing that can be added to his reputation by continuing to race."

Larkin said Bye Bye Bird, who shares with Adios Butler the world mile record for pacers on a half-mile track at 1:5 74-5, will be put to stud within a week at Larkin's Poplar Hill Farm near Lexington, Ky.

Since he started racing in 1957, Bye Bye Bird has been first 50 times, second 24 and third 9 in 101 starts. He has won 10 races worth $40,000 or more.

Yonkers Futurity Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Duke Rodney, a fleet but erratic colt, and the steady going Castleton Farm pair of Orbiter and Spectator head a well-balanced field of eight of the nation's top 3-year-old trotters in the $100,300 Yonkers Futurity at Yonkers Raceway tonight.

The 1 1-16 mile race is the first jewel in the Triple Crown for 3-year-old trotters. The others are the Hambletonian at DuQuoin, Ill., Aug. 30, and the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington, Oct. 6.

Only one horse—Scott Frost in 1955—has won all three since the series was inaugurated in 1955. And Frostbite, a son of Scott Frost, is in tonight's race as an 8-1 shot. He'll start from the favored pole position.

Duke Rodney is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Patrick DiGennaro of Rochester.

Flying Baker Picked

MONTICELLO—Flying Baker, one of the outstanding three year olds in the Billy Haughton Stable, is the 3-1 morning line favorite in the $3,000 Poughkeepsie Pace feature at Monticello Raceway tonight.

Bill Vaughan will rein the chestnut colt by Direct Rhythm out of the number one slot against eight otner horses.

Second choice in the feature is Miss Myrtle's First, at 4-1. Al Manzi will be in the sulky behind the filly who drew the number three post.

Flying Baker's best winning time of the season was a 2:02.3 at Roosevelt Raceway in late June. Al (Apples) Thomas drove the colt at Monticello July 13th and won in 2:04 over Cimbee and Michael E. Diamond.

In his last start, Flying Baker was fourth at Brandwine behind Al Sam, Sweet Miriam and Henry T. Adios, pacing the mile in 2:02.2. Prior to that, Billy Haughton drove the Baker to a second at Foxcroft in 2:05.

Miss Myrtle's First, which shows a pair of victories in nine starts, has a winning time of 2:06.4, although the filly has been clocked in 2:03.4 and 2:03.2 in non-winning efforts.

Co-feature of the night is the fifth race, a $1,000 Class C-1 pace. Pole Adios, with Real Cormier driving, is the 3-1 morning line choice in that one, the Orange Inn presentation.

The remainder of the field in the feature includes Braxfield, Newtown Lad, Scarlet Sam, Shadydale Missile, April Maid and Cimbee.

Tested Veteran Plays 'Rookie' In Junior Golf

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A tournament-tested veteran of 17 and the youngest player in the finals were set to tee off today in the final round of the State Golf Association's junior championship tournament.

Peter Famiano, 17, of Schenectady, veteran of many tournaments, gained the finals with a 6 and 5 victory over Mike Mallon of Westbury.

Christopher Siegler, 15, of Elmsford, a golfer for only three years, battled his way into the match against Famiano by eliminating James Duval, 17, of Schenectady, in the other semi-final round Wednesday.

Famiano, a high-school senior, plans a career in golf.

Seigler, who also is an accomplished swimmer, twice has won the junior championship of his home course, Knollwood Country Club.

In contrast to Famiano's wide margin in the semi-finals Seigler came from behind to win in each of his last four matches. In the tournament for boys 15 to 17 on the Troy Country Club course.

In the boys' division, for those under 15, an all-Schenectady final pits Bob Duval, brother of James, against Ronnie Philo. Both are 14.

Bison's Savage Due for Majors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A year ago Ted Savage, centerfielder with Buffalo in the International League, gave himself three years to reach the major leagues or he would quit.

Now in his second season in pro ball, it looks as if Savage will achieve his goal. The Buffalo outfielder belted his 19th homer, two doubles and a single to lead the Bisons to a 11-4 victory over Columbus in the second game of a doubleheader Wednesday night. This gave Buffalo an even break after the Jets won the first game 2-0 behind Bob Veale and Diomedes Olivo.

In other IL game, Toronto and Richmond played five hours and 50 minutes with the Maple Leafs gaining a 2-0 victory in the seven-inning first game. The second game went 16 innings before it was halted by curfew and the score deadlocked at 5-5. Rochester behind the six-hit pitching of Herb Moford, blanked Jersey City 7-0 and Charleston romped to a 9-1 victory over Syracuse.

Player Issue Solved Before Roanoke Game

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The segregated crowd at Saturday night's Baltimore Colt-Pittsburgh Steeler football game here will see Negro players in action, after all—because the game is a charity affair.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, concluding that the charitable aspect of the game outweighed other considerations, late Wednesday withdrew its request that 19 Negroes on the two National Football League teams boycott the contest.

Promptly thereafter, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle gave the official go-ahead for the Negro players to compete, albeit reluctantly and with a warning that in the future he might not be so agreeable.

Both the NAACP and Rozelle obviously were influenced by the fact that charitable receipts of the game in Victory Stadium will be used to help both white and Negro sandlot teams in this area.

Palmer Favored In ICO Tourney

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A happy Arnold Palmer, he of the strong jaw and rugged muscles, is back at the Wethersfield Country Club today to compete in the $30,000 Insurance City open golf tournament.

He loves to come here, and the feeling is mutual. It's a must stop for the famed pro.

The 1961 British Open champion from Latrobe, Pa., has never forgotten that he won his first American majo: prize as a pro in the ICO. It was his start on the road to riches and fame back in 1956.

Ever since, he's been the darling of the galleries during the annual four-day, 72-hole test, and has been worthly of it.

Last year, after winning the Masters and National Open, Palmer staged one of his come-from-behind victories to become the ICO's first double winner. Now he is a top favorite to win again over Wethersfield's par-71 6,548-yard exacting course.

Rare Finish

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—The eighth race at Saratoga Raceway Wednesday night produced a racing oddity: all seven horses finished in order of their post-position.

The winner of the $1,200 Class B-2 Pace was the No. 1 position horse, Windale Bonnie Boy.

The rumored college football bribe scandal due to break on the eve of the season has been targeted to an Atlantic Coast Conference game last fall . . . pinpointed on a quarterback who has quietly skipped his last year of competition. . . .

After the All-Star Game, phenomenal Eagle Tommy McDonald said it: "I made a great quarterback out of Norm Van Brocklin . . . and I'll make a great one out of Sonny Jorgenson, too." . . .

When Bud Wilkinson, serving as the President's adviser on youth fitness, dropped into the White House, the first question that greeted him was not the state of the nation's muscles, but, "what kind of a team is Oklahoma going to have this year?" . . . Bud says the Sooners are about a year away. . . . He's doing his Washington hitch without pay — "Taking money means being obligated." . . . His prime example of checking fitness is his son, a Duke gridder—"Without steel plates in his shoes as a little kid, he would have been knock-kneed all his life." . . .

Jackie Brandt, the rookie outfielder of the Orioles, dismays his own infield when he plays left field . . . fools them looking one way and throwing the other. . . .

Behind the trade that sent Jimmy Orr to the Colts and Big Daddy Lipscomb to the steelers is dissension and dissatisfaction . . . with an open rift between Orr and Bobby Lane forcing Pittsburgh to trade the end . . . the Colts had been trying to peddle much publicized Big Daddy for a year because he wasn't doing just what Coach Buddy Parker announced he got him for—to rush the passer. . . .

How long can Cholly Dressen last in Milwaukee with the veterans on the Braves tearing him apart? . . .

In Pittsburgh, Walt Alston of the Dodgers got suspicious the Pirates were beamed in on his walkie-talkie when he spied Bob Skinner and the groundskeeper in a dugout corner across the field while he talked to Coach Clay Bryant . . . so he growled, "If you're listening, Skinner, you blankety-blank, laugh," . . . The outfielder gave himself away with a big yuk. . . .

Wasn't there electronic monkeyshine when Ralph Houk sat out his five-day suspension watching the games on television in his clubhouse office? . . . every decision on the field came up just like the Major had made it. . . .

Keeping up with Rocky Bridges: when Oriole Brooks Robinson came up with a couple of out-of-this-world fielding plays, the Angel vet spat, "Jules Verne must have created him." . . . with Jimmy Piersall at bat, a jet flew overhead, and Rocky pointed, "Hey, Jimmy, there goes your ride." . . .

National League umpire Frank Dascoli has been called on the carpet by president Warren Giles for popping off about umpiring conditions. . . .

Big blowup due soon in the official family on the Houston Oilers because there was more to the sudden departure of recruits Tom Goode and Walt Suggs than the fact that they were suddenly tired of playing football (otherwise, why would Goode have called a National Football League club about the chances of catching on) . . . and they can't be happy about the failure of such valued chattel as Dan Lamphear, Bob White, Al Witcher and Hugh Pitts to report. . . .

Wanna know why there's a shortage of baseball talent? Al Schacht has figured out there are 4,700 fewer players in the minors today than 20 years ago . . . with the number of leagues cut from 58 to 19. . . .

Between you'n'me, they've done a pretty good job of hushing up an off-season incident . . . in which a top professional quarterback was shot in the leg . . . but quickly recovered to romp on the field the first day of practice. . . .

JFK, Johnson Agree on Plan For Succession

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy disclosed today he had made an agreement with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for operation of the presidency if he should become incapacitated.

Kennedy told his news conference that he had made the same kind of agreement with Johnson that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower set up with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower and Nixon agreed that if the Eisenhower became unable to continue his duties, Nixon should take over as acting president. The President then would decide when he was able to resume the duties of office.

Kennedy did not give any details of his agreement with Johnson. He said, however, that White House press secretary Pierre Salinger would make the agreement public later.

Special Action Called in U.N. On Tunisia Rift

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secreatry-General Dag Hammarskjold today called a special session of the U.N. General Assembly to meet Aug. 21 on the French-Tunisian dispute.

Hammarskjold acted after a majority of the 99 U.N. members had approved an Asian-African request for the extraordinary session.

Uruguay became the 50th member to signify approval of the session.

Hammarskjold immediately dispatched telegrams to all delegations announcing that the session would convene at 10:30 a.m. Aug. 21.

3 Hearings Tonight

Three public hearings are slated for tonight at the city hall. The first of two dealing with recent local laws adopted by the Common Council, opens at 7 p. m., in the Common Council chamber. The one law mandates residency as a requirement for appointment to the police department, and the other deals with an all-over increase in mileage of three cents for those who use personal cars on city job.

The hearings will be conducted by Mayor Edwin F. Radel. The other hearing deals with amending the zoning laws to cover certain type multiple dwellings. It will be held by Alderman Lawrence E. Woerner, chairman of the Common Council's laws and rules committee, and will open at 7:30 p. m., in the city court room, city hall.

Slate Conference Aug. 16 on Senior Citizens' Housing

A conference is due Aug. 16 with state housing officials to discuss housing needs for the city's senior citizens, Mayor Edwin F. Radel reported today.

The government's program for providing housing to accommodate older citizens, the mayor said, will be discussed with officials of the New York State Division of Housing.

"Housing for the aged," the mayor noted, "has become an ever increasingly popular program throughout the country, and with the census statistics indicating longer life spans for Americans, I feel it is time for us to investigate the programs available to provide living quarters for these senior citizens."

A wing of the Colonial Gardens project, he said, has been set aside for older people, "and this limiited program has proved to be a most popular addition to the housing apartments available in our community. Indications are that we could support more of this type of housing," and the Aug. 16 meeting, he said, "will be to investigate all phases of this program."

Supervisors Will Hear Community College Reports

A report on a study of the proposed Ulster County Community College made by a special committee of the County Board of Supervisors will be submitted at a regular meeting of the Board tonight at the Courthouse.

Supervisor Roy Webber, Town of Marbletown, chairman of the community college committee, will make the report after which he is expected to offer a resolution on the proposition to be submitted to the voters at the general election on Nov. 7.

Oher members of the community college committee are: Supervisors Roger W. Mabie, Town of Esopus; Edwin C. Chase, Town of Wawarsing; Alexander J. Banyo, Town of Ulster; John J. Gaffney, Town of Lloyd, and Abram F. Molyneaux, Town of Woodstock.

The board meeting is scheduled for 8 p. m. today.

Education Is Elevated

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) School administrators hope to solve the problems of overcrowding and inadequate play space at Van Cleve School — plus the cost of acquiring land — by building a school on stilts.

"The purpose of this is to save space by elevating the building," Supt. Robert B. French told the board. "Children could use the open area under the building for play."

Asst. Supt. W. M. Bagwell said he hopes planners will come up with something that does "not look like a monstrosity."

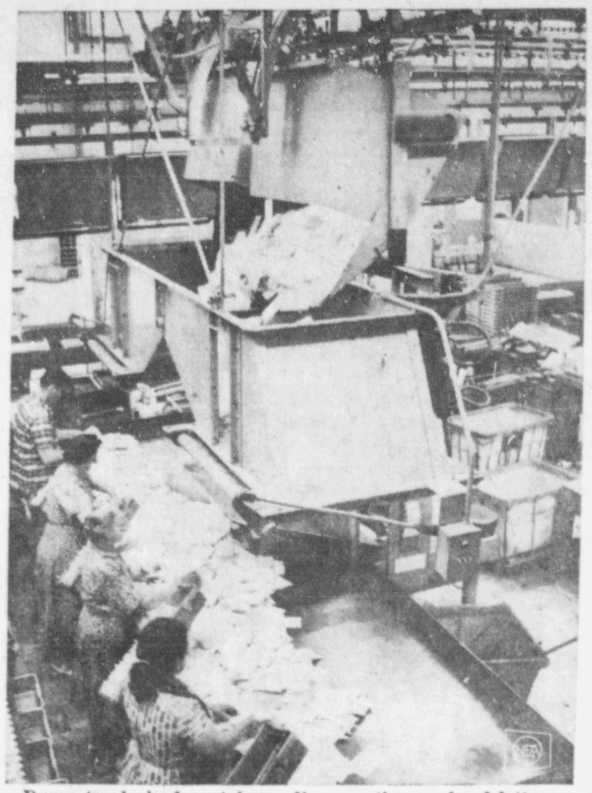
What Your Four Cents Gets You These Days—



Dump truck-sized containers disgorge thousands of letters. Mail here has already been segregated by class and size.

Deft hands stack letters into plastic hoppers for trip to the cancelling machine. Despite automatic advancements in mail handling, human element is vital in certain operations.

Heart of the modern post office: From here, one man operates the "Mail-Flo" conveyor system. Letters in this Cleveland post office travel miles before they leave the building.

As many as 23,000 letters per hour are postmarked in this machine. It rejects colored envelopes for hand cancelling.

Before they turned to mechanization, the nation's larger post offices were threatened with paralysis—so great was the daily crush of carts, men pushing the carts and avalanches of mail. Now, many mail centers are equipped with ultramodern mail conveyor systems, such as the one shown here in Cleveland, Ohio. While some hand operations are still employed, tons of letters are speeded mechanically between points in the building. Mechanical cancelling machine postmarks letters at the rate of 10 per second; if a letter is upside down it is flipped over for proper cancellation. Colored envelopes confuse its "reading" operation. These are shunted aside for manual processing.

Three Killed, Six Wounded

Enemies of Castro Try Taking Cuban Airliner

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO

HAVANA (AP)—Enemies of Fidel Castro attempted to hijack a Cuban airliner in flight Wednesday. A gun battle erupted on board and three persons — including the pilot—were killed and six were wounded. The copilot crash-landed in a sugar cane field.

The twin-engine plane, owned by the nationalized Cuban airlines Aerovias Q, had 53 persons aboard when it set out from Havana's Rancho Boyeros Airport Wednesday. It was heading for the Isle of Pines, off Cuba's south coast.

Five minutes after takeoff, the hijackers attempted to force their way into the pilot's cabin and take over the plane, presumably in hopes of heading for the United States.

When the crew and two guards resisted, gunfire broke out. Authorities reported the hijackers fired first and one of the first shots killed the plane's captain, Luis Alvarez Regato.

The other dead were one of the military guards, Silvino Sanchez Almaguer, and one of the hijackers, who was not identified.

Havana Radio did not broadcast news of the incident until this morning, hours after it happened.

While the gunfight went on in the main cabin and terrified passengers ducked for cover, the wounded copilot, Alberto Bayo, managed to crash-land safely in a field. The landing gear and propellors were smashed.

As soon as the plane landed, the four or five remaining hijackers jumped out and escaped.

Authorities say they believe the hijackers hid in the cane field. Several hundred militiamen surrounded and searched the area.

Besides Bayo and crewman Ramon Ferrandis, four passengers were wounded.

The plane was making a regular flight with 48 passengers, 3 crewmen and 2 guards when the incident occurred.

It took place while a hijacked Pan American World Airways jetliner was waiting at Havana to be returned to the United States after its pilot was forced by a young Frenchman to bring it here.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro has urged the U.S. government to conclude an agreement to stop the increasing number of cases of hijacking involving the two countries.

Fined $15

Elbert R. Carey, 27, of Salisbury, Md., charged with speeding, was fined $15 in city court today. A traffic light charge, on which he had also been booked, was dismissed. Also dismissed were disorderly conduct charges against Robert C. Fitzgerald, 18, of 14 Wynkoop Place, and Douglas John Noble, 18, of 755 Broadway. Both had been charged with fighting. Today's session was conducted by Special City Judge Arthur B. Ewig.

Entourage of Servants

In the golden days of the Orient Express, the nobility traveled with an entourage of servants, including chambermaids who made up their berths with silk sheets.

nedy has given thought to establishing a project similar to the Manhattan Project which developed the atomic bomb, in an effort to speed up space accomplishments.

Kennedy replied that a maximum effort already is going into space developments. He said he has asked Congress for all the money that could be spent without diminishing returns both financially and in terms of the use of personnel.

At this time, Kennedy continued, all that can be usefully employed is being put into this effort.

Kennedy said the United States cannot permit any nation hostile to this country to dominate space.

He said, however, he hopes some progress can be made within the United Nations toward guaranteeing the peaceful use of space. He said this will be a major issue in the U.N. session this fall.

A reporter noted that some members of Congress contend the Soviet Union is producing many more young scientists than the United States. He asked what plans there are for increasing the number of young American experts.

Kennedy replied that he hopes Congress will pass his general aid to education bill and the National Defense Education Act. He said both measures provide scholarships for young men and women are talented in the scientific field.

Protest Pays Off

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Township trustees got the message when Gene Geary got fed up with dust on unpaved Topaz Avenue. He placed barricades across the street to halt traffic.

When sheriff's deputies arrived, Geary asserted that the trustees promised to pave the street but never got around to it. The deputies asked him to check again. Trustees informed Geary that a contract for the work had been signed.

The barricades came down.

Clean Town Has Dusty Jail

MIDDLEPORT, N. Y. (AP)—Apparently there's nothing wrong with the jail here that a little business wouldn't cure.

Police have received a report on an inspection the State Commission of Correction made during the spring. It says: "The cells and cell room were clean but somewhat dusty from disuse on the date of inspection."

There were no detentions in 1960 or up to the date of inspection, village officials explained.
